Milestone worth mentioning

This week we recognise the career to date of North Ballarat captain Marc Greig.

MARC GREIG, the North Ballarat Football Club captain, succinctly encapsulates what Victorian Football has to offer. In many ways Greig, who played his 175th match in last year's VFL Grand Final and therefore earned VFL Life Membership, is the perfect billboard for the football pathway that's at the core of our game.

It's been a long and at times winding journey that has taken him from junior country football to the TAC to the VFL to senior country football and then back to the VFL.

It's been a journey that began in the mid 1990s when he entered the North Ballarat Rebels TAC Cup program from the Kalkee Football Club in the Horsham District Football League, continued with North Ballarat in the VFL, detoured with two seasons as captain-coach of Warrack Eagles in the Wimmera Football League then saw him return to play with North Ballarat.

Along this journey, which stretches over 15 seasons, Greig has represented the VFL, played in premierships and will be inducted later this year as a VFL Life Member.

It's been an immensely satisfying, rewarding and memorable career and one which underscores the opportunities catered for by Victorian Football and reflects with unerring accuracy what a player can achieve. Like all other aspiring young footballers Greig would have dreamed of playing AFL, but just because he didn't it doesn't mean the game still doesn't offer players the chance to enjoy the game at the highest possible level.

It is part of AFL Victoria's obligation on behalf of the AFL to ensure that there is a clearly defined pathway for players through all levels of the game. Such a pathway begins in junior football, funnels through various talent identification programs into the TAC Cup where coaching resources and infra structure allows young players to develop their game so they can exit the program better players and better people. It is a mission statement of the AFL Academy programs. While there is compelling evidence that suggests the TAC Cup is the best football nursery in the country, players who are not selected in the AFL NAB National Draft, Rookie or Pre-Season Draft can still see an illuminated road to take their football.

It matters little whether that is returning to their club of origin, playing VFL, country or metropolitan community league football. It's all about an opportunity to play and stay in the game.

AFL Victoria is committed to providing players the best opportunity they can to enjoy their football, and to test themselves against the best possible opposition whether that is at VFL, country or suburban league level.

AFL Victoria alive and well on social media

Have you joined the VFL or TAC Cup on Facebook or Twitter?

SOCIAL media like Facebook and Twitter are growing communication tools for AFL Victoria.

In 2010 we dipped our toes in the water regarding these social media channels, and in 2011 we are looking to expand our coverage.

During the week leading up to the VFL and TAC Cup seasons, we reach 1,000 and 600 followers respectively on Twitter, and 900 and 550 LIKES on Facebook. For those that the last sentence made no sense to, let me explain.

AFL Victoria is fortunate now to have multiple avenues for you to keep in contact with what is going on with its two flagship competitions, the VFL and TAC Cup. Apart from the main websites for each of the competitions – vfl.com.au and taccup.com.au, these competitions also have a large presence in two of the main social media networks, Twitter and Facebook.

What it means is that whenever we update either of the main websites, we will alert you to an update via both our social media channels. What these social media channels also enable us to do is interact with the supporters of these competitions.

Via Twitter of a weekend, clubs and supporters can keep us up to date with scores during matches by sending a tweet (or in layman's terms a 140 character message) of the scores. This helps get the scores out to the wider public when people add @VFLnews or @TACCup to their tweet so people that are following us on Twitter can be kept up to date. With the development of the VFL iPhone app, it has a specific Twitter section where messages are broadcast in the one spot. Having myself only signed up to Twitter just over a month ago, I can tell you it is a great source to keep up to date with the latest information.

On Facebook we talk in the terminology of LIKES. For each of the competitions, we have a Facebook site – facebook.com/vflfooty and facebook.com/taccupfooty – where people that have LIKEd our site, can interact with each other and comment on the postings made on the site. While in the initial weeks of the season we have only been alerting you to updates on the respective websites, in future weeks keep an eye on these sites for competitions and forum discussion that will be developed.

Further development of our presence in these social media areas will hopefully increase the coverage of our competitions during the season.

Seagulls though to next round

Williamstown are the first VFL team to progress through to the next round of the Foxtel Cup.

WILLIAMSTOWN coach Peter German's attention to detail is renowned. It proved telling as the Seagulls advanced to the Quarter Finals of the Foxtel Cup at the expense of a disappointing Swan Districts.

German, mindful that Williamstown played its opening Foxtel Cup match on the expansive Patersons Stadium at Subiaco, organised for the Seagulls to travel west for a pre-season practice match earlier this year.

Not only did it allow the players a chance to gain an understanding of the nuances of Patersons Stadium, but also to get a feel for the Burley football used in the west.

The upshot was evident as Williamstown humbled the reigning WAFL premiers Swan Districts, winning 8.7 (55) to 2.6 (18).

Williamstown nullified Swan District's goal scoring for the first three quarters. Only a questionable free kick close to goal nearly two minutes into the final quarter paved the way for Swan District's first goal.

After a scrappy opening term where Swan Districts led 0.2 to 0.1, the Seagulls gradually gained the ascendancy.

Swan Districts had plenty of the football, but butchered it time and time again and its inability to convert from many of its forays forwards would return to haunt them.

With Western Bulldogs

ruckman Will Minson - one of 15 Bulldogs players in the Williamstown team - dominating the stoppages around the ground and providing his teammates first use of the ball, the Seagulls took charge in the second quarter.

Minson put on a clinic, but what was particularly pleasing for Bulldogs coach Rodney Eade was his second and third efforts and his boundless enthusiasm.

Williamstown kicked four goals in the second term while restricting Swan Districts to two points as the storyline of this Foxtel Cup match became all too predictable.

Former Geelong player Nathan Djerrkura showed his skills as he repeatedly won the loose ball and more often than not used it effectively.

The Bulldogs would also have been pleased with former Geelong Falcons graduate Luke Dahlhaus who kicked two goals, but worked industrially around the ground.

Jayden Schofield, a first year Bulldogs player, showed poise beyond his experience as he won clearance after clearance from defence.

Ed Barlow, a mature aged rookie for the Bulldogs, was strong in defence, but it wasn't only the AFL listed players that shone for Williamstown.

Captain Brett Johnson again displayed his class, winning contested possessions, setting up play and providing the leadership that he's given the club for the past five seasons.

The Seagulls effectively iced the game in the third quarter when they added another two goals while limiting the haphazard Districts to two points.

Swan Districts managed two early goals in the last quarter to provide some respectability to another otherwise embarrassing scoreline.

Williamstown will play the winner of this weekend's Quarter Final between West Adelaide and Ainslie at AAMI Stadium.

The last VFL team to take to the field in the Foxtel Cup will be Northern Bullants who host Greater Western Sydney on Saturday April 30 at the MCG.

Goodes back in the VFL

- SNAPSHOT -

Brett Goodes

Age: 27

Clubs: Williamstown, North Ballarat

Games: 86

Goals: 34

Highlights: North Ballarat premiership player 2008-09; VFL Team Of The Year 2008; VFL representative player 2008

BRETT GOODES is a dual premiership player with North Ballarat, a club where he has spent the bulk of his football career and a club that he holds dear to his heart.

Goodes left for Northern Territory for employment opportunities following the 2009 season unsure if or when he would return to Victoria.

The 27-year-old came back earlier than expected courtesy of a job with the Western Bulldogs where he's a player welfare manager four days a week.

Given he was back in his home State, Goodes thought about resuming his career with North Ballarat, but then after taking to Chris Maple, the Bulldogs development coach, it dawned on him it was not going to work. It would not be a good fit working all week with young, Western Bulldog players, who were more than likely to find their way into aligned VFL club Williamstown, and then play against them.

"I've always wanted to play at the best level I could, I'm really happy to be back in the VFL," Goodes said.

"Having a chat with Chris I realised that if I did want to play VFL it would have to be with Williamstown. It would be too much of a contradiction if I played with anyone else.

"It did take me a while to think about that. Obviously, I have strong ties with North Ballarat, I played all my football there as a young bloke and won a couple of premierships.

"I came to the decision that I would play against them this year. It was a difficult decision, but I've made it and I'm enjoying my time at Williamstown."

Goodes said he took time to adjust last season playing with NT Thunder as it was not as professional as the VFL, but he still finished runner-up in the best and fairest.

"There were different challenges. It was difficult to make those players understand how professional they needed to be to play at the next level," Goodes said.

"I struggled early just because there weren't those good players around you. There weren't the structures there.

"It was only their second year as a club so they were obviously still building on their club culture. That was something I tried to help with. I drew on the experiences I had with the leadership group at North Ballarat."

While he again took time to find his feet when debuting for Williamstown in the season opener, Goodes said he felt he improved as the game progressed.

That spells good news for Williamstown and not so good news for North Ballarat when Goodes takes on his old club in round 11.

Lockyer joins coaching ranks

When the curtain fell of Tarkyn Lockyer's playing career at the end of last season, extending his involvement with the game was definitely foremost in his mind, but he had no idea of what opportunities would present themselves.

LOCKYER, named as an emergency in the 2010 AFL Grand Final and Grand Final Replay, thought about coaching, but he had no idea where or when such a transition would take place. Collingwood coach Mick Malthouse provided an immediate answer – coach of Collingwood's VFL club. With Magpie premiership player and club legend Gavin Brown - who had coached the VFL team the past three seasons- accepting a position as an assistant coach at Carlton, a vacancy opened up.

"I was certainly interested in coaching, but I didn't expect to be presented with an opportunity like this, to coach the VFL side of a club like Collingwood," Lockyer said. "Obviously, I love the club and spent so much time there as a player so to be offered this sort of opportunity was fantastic."

During his 13 seasons at Collingwood, Lockyer played 227 games, including 11 last season. He also played in the Magpies VFL Elimination Final, which the club lost. Lockyer acknowledged that while not daunted by the position, it was somewhat humbling given his playing career had finished the season before.

"To step into the shoes of a guy like Gavin Brown who is clearly a club legend is fantastic and I'm certainly looking forward to the challenges that arise this year," Lockyer said.

"I've been fairly close to Mick (Malthouse) and I'd spoken to him about my interest in coaching once I finished playing.

"When I spoke to him about retiring at the end of last year there wasn't any positions available at the club."

Several weeks into his retirement, Lockyer received a call from Malthouse and Geoff Walsh, the club's football General Manager, asking him to come in for a discussion about re-joining the club as a coach.

Not surprisingly, Lockyer did not need much or any time before accepting the position. One of only two AFL clubs fielding a stand alone VFL team, Lockyer said the club is in the fortunate position of focusing on grooming players to play AFL.

Like all clubs, Collingwood's VFL club will have a different look about it in season 2011. "With the exodus from the AFL list – we had 12 guys leave – it gives a chance for a few younger guys. Obviously, we picked up (Chris) Tarrant and (Andrew) Krakouer who we see as adding to our AFL side, but the other guys are all young fellas and we will see how they go," Lockyer said. "We have a bit of a mixed bag – a few West Australians, a few Victorian kids from the TAC Cup – but we're looking for some big things from them.

"We've seen a number of them (Alex) Fasolo, Jack Perham and Jye Bolton plus Kirk Ugle play in the NAB Cup and they all acquitted themselves well. We're looking for good things from them."

While Collingwood's focus is different from other VFL clubs, there was one aspect that Lockyer said didn't change from his playing days. "Every time we pull on a Collingwood jumper we want to win."

Positive return for Lovett

Tough pre-season decisions have paid off for the Zebras in the early rounds.

WHEN Frankston were beaten in a 2008 Semi Final, courtesy of a freakish goal by Williamstown's Callum Urch with seconds left on the clock, it coincided with Brett Lovett's last match as the Dolphins coach.

After six seasons, including three finals appearances, Lovett decided his time as a VFL coach was up.

For the past two seasons he's coached his son Jake's under 12 & 13 Frankston YCW side, an experience he thoroughly enjoyed.

Lovett had given no thought to returning to the VFL or for that matter any level above juniors, but that all changed when he received a call from Sandringham General Manager John Mennie.

"They just rang and said they were thinking of going down the lines of employing their own VFL coach as part-time role and would I like to come and have a chat," Lovett said. "I had a long hard think about it, but they lit the fire again. Sandringham had a good, young list that made the reserves finals last year and I could see there was opportunity to help them improve and that ended up in me saying yes."

It proved a telling conversation as the Zebras lured Lovett from his self-imposed 'retirement' back to hopefully lead Sandringham out of the wilderness, After winning three successive premierships – 2004-05-06 and making the '07 Semi Finals - Sandringham has missed the finals for the past three years. It's the first time since the late 1980s, early 90s - when the club endured a six-year finals drought - that the club has been absent for so long from September action. Lovett wasn't in the job long when he made a decision that was tantamount to pulling the trigger on Bambi – he told five-time premiership player, nine time 'Frosty' Miller medallist, club games record holder and club captain Nick Sautner that unless he met the non-negotiable training regime he could not fit into the team. "It wasn't only Nick, it was all the players. I laid down the foundations of what was required," Lovett said.

"I'm a very strong believer of training with the group and presenting yourself that way, week in, week out. He was committed to the football club, but with Nick's job it was fairly difficult for him to do that.

"I did the same down at Frankston, it's what I believe in. I believe in building a strong trust and respect within the group and I believe you do that through training and spending time together."

As great a player as Sautner has been over an extraordinary football journey, Lovett's rules were non-negotiable: under his coaching there would be a set of rules that everyone would abide by.

It would spell the end of Sautner's VFL career, a career that saw him finish with 873 goals, a tally that placed him seventh on the all-time VFA/VFL list.

But, it would signal a new dawn for Sandringham, one that Lovett hopes will return the Zebras to finals football.

Greig gains life membership

The veteran Rooster is now not only a VFL Life Member, but is captain of his club in 2011.

- SNAPSHOT -

Marc Greig

Age: 31

Club: North Ballarat

Games: 177

Goals: 52

Highlights: North Ballarat premiership player 2008-09-10; North Ballarat captain 2011; VFL Representative player 2002-05; VFL Life Membership

MARC GREIG has heard it all before. In fact the doom and naysayers have been saying for the past three seasons that it can't be done.

It, of course, relates to North Ballarat winning the VFL premiership, something they've taken personal possession of since 2008. They can keep on saying it until they're blue in the face as it gains little traction with Greig or for that matter anyone at North Ballarat as they aim to make it four flags in a row.

Sure, Greig acknowledges the loss of a number of premiership players from last year is significant, but he also notes it has happened every year and it has not impacted on the club's ultimate goal. Greig said the focus is dealing with what the club can control, not worrying about things outside it. "We lost five or six players out of the first premiership team, obviously pretty handy players. No one thought we would even make the finals the second year," Greig said. "Then we won it again in '09 and we lost more players – (Michael) Searle went overseas, Tommy Roach went to Perth. We lost another seven or eight and we came out and won the flag last year. "We've lost 'Spider' (Shaune Moloney, the club captain for the past five years) who is irreplaceable as a leader and a number of others, but we've got the same backline and although we've lost (David) Hale, (Josh) Smith and (Corey) Jones from the forward line for most of the year we only had two of them.

"We've looked over the summer at the midfielders increasing their goal kicking. When we made the Preliminary Final in '07 it was based around a small, fast forward line.

"Once again everyone will write us off, which is fine. We know it will be a challenge, but we're up for it."

With Moloney retiring after the 2010 premiership, North Ballarat required a new leader. The player's chose Greig, a recommendation backed by coach Gerard FitzGerald and the Board. Greig, who played his 175th VFL match and therefore qualified for VFL Life Membership in last year's VFL Grand Final, is on the cusp of becoming the club's VFL games record holder. Moloney finished his career with 187 games, a tally Greig should pass midway through this season and counting finals could finish the season on the door step of 200 games.

But, more importantly for Greig is the honour bestowed upon him to captain the club. He said the club had been a major part of his life for more than a decade.

Greig spoke about how the club looked after him, just like they do all young players arriving at the club.

He remembered how they set him up with an apprenticeship and he's still working under the same boss today.

What particularly impresses Greig is that the club's interest extends beyond the player's ability to take a mark, lay a tackle or kick a goal.

"The club really cares about you and that starts with 'Fitzy' (Gerard FitzGerald)," Greig said.

"They want people to be happy outside football. If people are happy in their job and their family then it's likely they be happy with their football.

"To be named captain of the North Ballarat football club is a pretty big honour," declared Greig, who began with the club in 1998.

Apart from two seasons when he was captain-coach of Warrack Eagles in the Wimmera Football League, Greig has called the North Ballarat FC home and is immensely proud to do so. Greig fitted straight back into the club as if he had never left. He is one of the first players selected each and every week, not because he's the most gifted players, but because of his values and principles and beliefs. And, that's not to down play his ability. Afterall, he represented the VFL twice and State representation jumpers are not given away. He attacks his game with an old fashioned, uncompromising approach. It has served him well.

"It's a very successful club and not just because of the past three years, it's always been a successful club. It's just great to be part of its history.

"To captain the football club is special and to take over from 'Spider', who is one of my best mates is also a great honour."

Significantly, Greig's elevation to captaincy was not a production line process. It was voted on by his peers, who select the leadership group on the core values; headlined by honesty, discipline, work ethic and respect.

Greig has no doubt about the significance of the leadership group. "It's been our strength," he said.

"'Fitzy' puts an enormous amount of faith into the leadership group and we have the full support of the Board. We reckon over the past three to four years we've really been on top of things."

More so than in previous seasons, North Ballarat will field a team with more first year players or more players with less than 20 games than ever before.

The Roosters will look more to its leadership group to show the way. Marc Greig will be like a beacon for all his teammates.

Potter at home at Coburg

COBURG TIGERS' coach has been somewhat like a revolving door – every time you look there's someone new.

Since the revamped VFL competition began in 2000, no club, for one reason or another, has had more coaches than Coburg Tigers. Newly appointed Adam Potter is the club's ninth coach, but unlike many of his predecessors Potter is not a stranger to City Oval. Potter first arrived at Coburg in 2006 and for the ensuing four seasons held various roles. For 2006-07 he was the reserves coach and led the club to the VFL reserves premiership in 2007.

When Jade Rawlings took over as coach in 2008, Potter became his assistant coach, a position he held until the end of the '09 season. Last season Potter moved to Williamstown where he was a senior assistant coach under Peter German.

At the end of the season, Coburg Tigers sounded him out about returning as senior coach.

"In a lot of ways it's been a 360 degree turn around. I was there for four years, had a great experience and then went to a very professionally run club in Williamstown and that was a real eye-opener," Potter said.

"Coming back I've put in place some of the structures I learned at Williamstown. It was a real benefit having those 12 months at 'Willy', but now I'm really excited to be back at Coburg."

Unlike the past three coaches, Potter is not a member of aligned club Richmond's coaching staff. He's a part-time coach, sanctioned by Richmond, but appointed by Coburg Tigers. Potter understands he has to work with all the young Richmond players who filter back to the VFL affiliate as well as developing and improving the Coburg Tigers list.

"We want to ensure the football club improves and to get back to playing some finals football," Potter said. "Part of that is aligning our game plan with Richmond and making sure that whether you are part of the Richmond Football Club or Coburg Football Club that on game day the two gel together, and players understand what is expected of them so that we get the right result."

Coburg Tigers are coming off two disappointing seasons where the club won a combined 12 games and subsequently did not play finals either year.

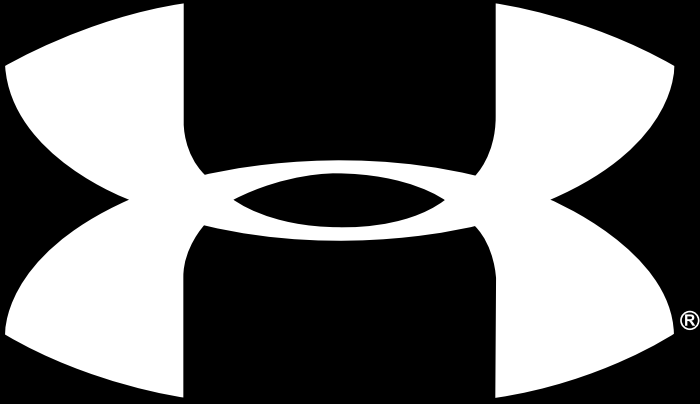

Potter returned to the club with the positive news that 14 of the club's VFL list - headed by captain Nick Carnell and last season's best and fairest winner Sam Power – had committed for season 2011.

"We retained quite a lot of the list that we wanted to keep, guys that are the core of our club. That was really important," he said.

"Over the pre-season we have been trying to embrace the history of the club, get to know what the club is all about so it feels like their football club, and they enjoy playing footy for the Coburg.

"It has been a real positive that the core players are still at the club and we have been able to bring in some exciting players from the TAC Cup."

Highlights: North Ballarat premiership player 2008-9-10; Norm Goss Medallist (best on ground VFL Grand Final (2009), VFL Representative player 2008-10; VFL Team Of The Year 2008-09-10

ORREN STEPHENSON stands tall not just because of his 200 centimetres.

It's his sustained performances over the past five seasons that has elevated Stephenson to rarefied territory as not only North Ballarat's No 1 big man, but the best ruckman in the competition. Stephenson owns three premiership medallions, a Norm Goss Medal, two State jumpers, three VFL Team Of The Year selections as well as some pre-seasons at AFL clubs.

He will add 100 game player to his list of achievement for the club this weekend.

Not bad for a guy who initially could not crack it on the North Ballarat list for the 2003 season. Stephenson, as his opponents will vouch, doesn't settle for second best. Thanks to a bunk up from current coach Gerard FitzGerald, who back in 2005 was coach of the North Ballarat Rebels and who knew Stephenson outside football. FitzGerald suggested to then Roosters coach Gavin Croisica that Stephenson might be worth having a look at the "big bloke" at Redan, a club in the Ballarat Football League.

"It's been really good," enthused Stephenson.

"I've been lucky with injury, lucky to be at such a great club and be able to play with some great players. It has been a great journey.

"I've got to represent my State, travel interstate and get the opportunity to spend some time at AFL clubs over the pre-season. There were never any considerations like that when I first came to North Ballarat."

When he was first listed, back in 2005, Stephenson's ambitions were no loftier than to play some games in the seniors.

He achieved that with five appearances, nothing really to suggest what would lie ahead in the ensuing years.

As Stephenson noted, it all "snowballed" from there. He played every game in the '06 season and from there it was off to the races as they say.

"I always wanted to play at the highest level possible. I didn't want to be sitting back and saying 'why didn't I go back and have another go at it'.

"It's the best decision I've made with my football."

Stephenson said he's been fortunate to be surrounded by so many good players and also the freedom afforded him by FitzGerald – "he allows me to play to my strengths."

What continually drives Stephenson is to improve himself. He said nothing is to be gained by thinking you've accomplished all you can, in football or in any area.

"I always approach each training session trying to be better myself, even if it is something basic like my disposal. There's that aim at every session I go into, I think that puts you in good stead to keep improving as the years go on."

Orren Stephenson has climbed football's proverbial mountain, but talk to him and it's apparent he hasn't yet reached the top.

Casey's Michael Newton leads the VFL goal kicking after round 2.

North Ballarat unfurled their 2010 premiership flag in round 2.

Strong mark by Bendigo's Ariel Steinberg in round 1.

Port Melbourne's Jason Burge in round 2.

Northern Bullants' Nick Meese.

Seagulls home away from home

Home and away games have a new meaning for Williamstown in season 2011.

ROUND 3 sees Williamstown take on the Box Hill Hawks at Avalon Airport Oval (Chirnside Park, Werribee).

The Seagulls will spend season 2011 as nomads while their home ground undergoes an 8.3 million dollar upgrade. This will see Burbank oval as one of the premier VFL facilities for football, cricket, corporate seminars and functions as well as private functions, weddings etc. The local community will also have access to one of the best facilities in the state. Having said that, it will still be one of those VFL / VFA grounds that opposition clubs do not look forward to playing at. It is always hard to win at Williamstown no matter where the Seagulls lie on the ladder. For season 2011, there are many challenges for Peter German and his coaching staff. Not having the home ground cauldron will be a test, but the Seagulls will look to make Werribee's home ground their home away from home.

Willy will play the majority of home games at Werribee as well as a home game at Torquay (Spring creek Oval) in round 4, Keilor (Keilor Football Ground) in round 11 and Norm Minns Oval (Wangaratta Showgrounds) in round 16.

Round 1 saw Williamstown defeat their "co-tenants" Werribee by 51-points in a night game that was well supported by the public. After the bye in round 2, and a victorious trip over to WA for their Foxtel Cup clash, the Seagulls will look forward to the round 3 clash against the Box Hill Hawks with the Hawks having a poor record at Avalon Airport Oval. Box Hill hasn't tasted victory at the ground since the early 1990's and although this means little to the current coach and players of the Hawks, it's a hoodoo ground for the club. Peter German has Justin Plapp as his reserves coach in season 2011. Justin was an assistant at Box Hill to Brendan Bolton for 2 years in 2009 and 2010 and will be delving into his knowledge to upset his previous club. Box Hill will look forward to the challenge of taking on Williamstown with both clubs having lost some key players from season 2011. Box Hill has seen three players recruited to AFL level in Ed Curnow (Carlton), Cam Pederson (North Melbourne) and Robbie Campbell (Melbourne) as well as losing captain Steve Kenna to Balwyn and several others back to local football. Williamstown too has seen departures in Rose, Little and Faulks. Box Hill have new faces in Adam Pattison (ex St Kilda & Richmond), Taylor Gilchrist (Sydney rookie) and Shaun Pollard who although recruited in 2010 was injured for the entire season.

Williamstown welcomes new arrivals in Brett Goodes (2-time Premiership player with North Ballarat), Anton Woods (Northern Bullants) and Mitch Hahn.

Both Clubs have very experienced captains in Sam Gibson, 85-game player for the Box Hill Hawks and Brett Johnson, 5-year Seagull skipper and 2010 State captain in the win over Western Australia.

Round 2 saw both clubs have a bye and although Box Hill didn't play, Williamstown travelled to Western Australia to play Swan Districts in the Foxtel Cup. Swan Districts are the reigning WAFL Premiers and Williamstown acquitted themselves well, winning by 37-points.

"It's a big challenge to play on the bigger, unfamiliar grounds of the WAFL" said Football Manager, Chris Dixon. "We were very pleased on the way the boys ran out the game"

Today will be a cracking contest between two clubs who both played finals football in 2010. Williamstown are looking to continue their good start to season 2011 and Box Hill are seeking a win after their first round loss to Port Melbourne.

Port prove too strong

DESPITE windy and wet conditions at TEAC oval last Saturday, Port Melbourne continued their strong start to the season, downing Casey by 10 points, after a last quarter comeback by the Scorpions almost saw them steal the points as Brendan Lucas reports. After a 42-point lead at half time, followed by a 35-point lead at three quarter time, no one could have predicted Casey's last quarter comeback to salvage a game that seemed all but lost. Despite good first quarters from Casey's Addam Maric and Joel Macdonald, the Scorpions' turnovers and a 50-metre penalty cost them two late quarter goals, as the Boroughs held a comfortable 25-point lead at the first change.

The second quarter was much of the same, as the Boroughs piled on another 6 goals. Casey were smashed in the second quarter in the stoppages and clearances, as ex-demon midfielder Shane Valenti led the way in the middle for the Boroughs with hard contested football around the contests.

At half time, the Boroughs looked like they were running away with the game, with a 42-point lead being a reflection of their intensity at the ball and their skill execution. Michael Newton was the only real shining light for the Scorpions up forward, with 6 goals for the day, which was soured by a scuffle later in the third quarter which lead to a report. Borough's forward Daniel Keely was also strong up forward for Port with 3 goals.

By three quarter time the game looked bleak for the Scorpions, but they were coming home with the breeze. After two quick goals from Newton, the rain began to pour at TEAC oval, but the Scorpions were within 17 points at the 19-minute mark.

A behind by Newton late in the quarter was unable to clinch the game, the Scorpions leaving their run too late.

Port this week faces fellow undefeated side Sandringham, whilst Casey travels to North Ballarat.

Bullants on top

The Northern Bullants have started season 2011 in fine form.

THE NORTHERN BULLANTS have kicked off their season in style as they chalked up their second consecutive win, defeating Collingwood by 27 points at Visy Park as Brittany Shanahan reports.

The forecasted showers were absent for the entire match as the Bullants out-ran and out muscled a youthful Collingwood line up.

Kane Lucas was instrumental for the Bullants, providing essential run off half back and he effectively used the footy attaining 34 possessions. His teammate Wayde Twomey showcased some of his best footy, obtaining just 18 possessions but recording an accurate 4.1 for the match.

The second half saw a revitalised Collingwood unit with increased pressure and ferocious tackles been laid. Brad Dick certainly staked his claim for senior selection with Mick Malthouse observing from the sidelines.

Dick booted four goals for the match but it was his ability to win the footy in the one-on-one contested situations down in the forward line that was most impressive.

A small contingent of Collingwood fans had begun a deafening chant to spur on the Pies but the damage was already done.

Newly appointed Bullants coach Darren Harris was pleased with what he has seen his side dish up this season.

He believes the hard work early in the match set the side up for the win and prevented a Pies fight-back.

"We had a lot of inside 50s and a lot of the ball. We weren't as accurate as what we would've liked and having three injuries left us short on the bench which meant we just had to hang in there," Harris said.

"Collingwood's tackling really lifted. I thought their intensity after half time was fantastic and they put us under a lot of pressure."

"We thought we got out tackled in the third quarter so we wanted to lift that intensity. The key was to kick a couple of goals and we had to keep some scoreboard pressure on."

"We thought if we could get the ball in our hands with an extra number we might be able to play a slower kicking game to give us some rest time."

"Adam Marcon's goal to finish off for us was fantastic and that just kept the gap big enough for us to win," Harris concluded.

This week the Bullants will travel to play Coburg and Collingwood will host Werribee at Victoria Park in the ABC TV game.

Doyle back at Chargers

FOOTBALL can forge friendships that last well beyond the playing field. It's something that new Oakleigh Chargers coach Greg Doyle will vouch for.

Wind back the football clock to 1991 when the VFL was known as the VFA and Dandenong was a power under the tutelage of Tony Elsaugh, a subsequent long-time lieutenant of North Melbourne premiership coach Denis Pagan.

Among the many gifted young Redleg players were Greg Doyle and Rohan Welsh. They were members of the Redlegs premiership and would later play AFL – Doyle played for Melbourne, Welsh for Carlton.

When his AFL career came to an end, Doyle played with VFL expansion team Traralgon before having a season with Frankston, and then moved to Rye where he played the last eight years of his career.

During his tenure with Rye, Doyle was a playing coach but then returned to just playing. It was during that later time he again hooked up with Welsh, who was coaching Oakleigh Chargers. After four years as Welsh's assistant with the Chargers, Doyle followed him to the Vic Metro team in the AFL Under 18 National Championships. Following the 2010 season when Oakleigh coach Steve Grace left to take up an appointment with Fremantle as development coach, Doyle decided to grasp the chance to return to Warrabee Park.

"Having being involved for six years, it was now or never, I suppose," Doyle said.

"I always wanted to coach again, it just depended on what level and having being involved in the TAC Cup, I enjoyed the involvement and lack of politics.

"There's no guys getting paid, you're not ringing guys seeing when they're going to come to training and things like that.

"All the kids are fully committed to their football so when the opportunity became available, I was pretty keen to take it."

Doyle inherits perhaps the most transient squad in the TAC Cup with large numbers enrolled in the private school system.

It's a frustration having so many of the club's better players unavailable for large chunks of the season, but Doyle has put in place a system whereby the camaraderie between the group still exists.

"We make sure our private school kids still train with us once a week while they're playing with their school on the weekends," Doyle said. "It was something we put in place in 2006 when I was first at the Chargers and it's probably no secret we won the premierships that year."

Doyle found that during their absence players would lose fitness, as well as losing a handle on the various structure and game plans. Doyle understands the development philosophy of the TAC Cup better than most, but he's also mindful that winning is also important.

"The mentality of being an elite footballer is having that winning mindset. I don't think you can be an elite athlete at any level and have a mindset that it doesn't matter about winning," Doyle said. "From the coaching perspective, it's not all about winning as far as positional moves and what you do during games, but the message to players is 'we still want to win the game and we want to be ultra competitive.'"

Jack Charleston

After a round one defeat, the Western Jets focused on a team effort to get their first win of the year.

FOR Jack Charleston the difference in the Western Jets turning around a 40-point loss to a 29-point victory was that there wasn't a passenger in the team.

Charleston noted that every player contributed as the Jets posted its first win at the expense of the Eastern Ranges in a match that was locked up at three-quarter time.

"We worked harder, everyone contributed, there were no passengers," said Charleston, who stood out as the main Western contributor and earned the maximum votes in the TAC Cup Coaches Award.

"We won the contested ball pretty well and it went from there."

Charleston said it had been a focus throughout the week leading up to the match as the players identified what went wrong in the season opener against the Sandringham Dragons and worked on rectifying it.

He said the Dragons worked harder at spreading when they won the ball and it told on the scoreboard.

"I think we have the ability to knock over any team," Charleston said.

"It was pretty even all day against Eastern, but when the crunch time came in the third and fourth quarter we were pretty good at the contested ball and clearances."

Jets' coach Steve Kretiuk said Charleston made an immediate impact when he came into the team last year, but had been thwarted by 'niggly injuries'.

"We didn't really get to see much of him last season, but there's been a lot to like about him this season," Kretiuk said.

Kretiuk said he'd been impressed by the preparation Charleston put into the 2011 season so that he was right from the get-go.

He said the concern the coaching staff had was finding the right position for him.

"We've thrown him around a bit – back line, half forward and even through the mid field – but we want to stabilise a position for him," Kretiuk said.

And, that led to the decision to play Charleston in defence against Eastern Ranges. It proved an inspired choice.

Charleston collected 19 possessions, took eight marks, but importantly generated drive and set up play in a telling last quarter where the Jets broke open a tied match with a 6.0 to 1.1 last quarter to win by 29-points.

"Jack's one of those players you can rely on each week. He's disciplined and his work ethic is really good," Kretiuk said.

"He's fearless over the footy, he's got a great attack on the footy and his pressure is relentless. He had seven contested possessions, but when we had the footy Jack provided some offensive run and drive for us."

As for Charleston, he thought he rated his performance better than the first match, but noted "I've still got to improve a lot more."

Hayden Hector

Hector is hoping to go one step further with the Power in season 2011.

HAYDEN HECTOR, one of the group of players returning from the Gippsland Power team that made the 2010 TAC Cup Grand Final, likes all the early indicators from this year's squad.

Hector said there was much to like about the character of the team that prevailed to post a narrow win in the season opener against Dandenong Stingrays. He said the Power answered every challenge issued by Dandenong, which saw Gippsland emerge with a one point victory.

"It was pretty close all day. Our kicking efficiency really helped, but they kept pressing forward and we were pretty lucky to get away with a win," Hector said. "Our efficiency was good and so, too, was our pressure. This year's group has come together a lot quicker than last year.

"It took a couple of rounds to gel together as a team last year, but this year we've come together really well. The pre-season camp really helped."

New Gippsland coach Adam Dowie gave Hector - a member of last year's successful Vic Country team in the AFL Under 18 National Championships - the responsibility of vice-captain. It's something that sits well with Hector, who said the players had also quickly taken to Dowie's communicative approach. "Adam goes through things with the players really well," Hector said. Season 2010 was something of a roller-coaster ride for Hector, who played three games for Vic Country, but had the latter part of the season interrupted by a broken collarbone that saw him miss six weeks. Hector said the experience garnered from last season really set him up well for the 2011 season.

"It just helps knowing what is required to play TAC Cup footy," Hector said.

"And, you can help out the bottom age players with advice."

Dowie gave Hector a midfield role switching back into defence against Dandenong. "I'd run around and get the ball and then get back in defence and help out there. It was pretty much a sweeping role," Hector said.

It worked most effectively as Hector racked up 26 possessions, laid three tackles and took seven marks in a performance that saw him earn five TAC Cup Coaches Award votes.

Hector is again in the Vic Country squad. He would love to experience the exhilaration of representing his State again.

Also high on his priority list is for Gippsland Power to return to the finals and this time leave with a premiership medallion.

Loader keen to find balance

Newly appointed Rebels coach David Loader revels in the opportunity.

DAVID LOADER is in his first year as North Ballarat Rebels coach so it may be strange to hear him talking about a unique environment. But Loader has a great understanding of the program that exists not only at the Rebels but the close relationship with parent club North Ballarat, VFL premiers for the past three years. Loader works in closely with legendary North Ballarat coach Gerard FitzGerald so the players are integrated into the entire club and embrace its strong culture from the time they first enter it. It also helps with a seamless transition when TAC Cup players exit the program and wish to take the next step on the football pathway to play VFL.

Like everyone else, Loader has bought into the holistic program of the club where the unashamed emphasis is on bettering the individual as a person.

"We have a very holistic program so school and family is very important. We rate them even above football," Loader said. "If they can't get those things right then they are going to struggle anyway with their football." Strong character, discipline and work ethic are other principles the club is keep to develop with all players, according to Loader. "We are big on boy's character and we want to get the best out of the boys on all fields and their football usually follows on from that," he said.

"For me it's about balance in life. I see kids who put too much time into football and everything else struggles and then it ends up with everything catching up with them.

"Balance is crucially important so they have a good balance between time with family and either their school or work commitment and their football commitment."

Loader said he was taken by the philosophy and structure of the club when he first joined in 2007. He has been an assistant coach at the Rebels for the past four seasons before stepping up to replace Glenn Wilkins, who coached the club for two years.

He's a "lifer" as a football coach spending a dozen years coaching in the Mininer & District Football League.

"I was a playing coach for pretty much all my career, but once the body broke down it was time to step away and have a couple of years off," Loader said.

It was former Rebels coach cum Western Bulldogs Development Manager Chris Maple who suggested Loader become involved in the Rebels program. Certainly, it's an opportunity David Loader is glad he accepted.

Calder record second win

THE CALDER CANNONS fought hard to eventually overrun the Bendigo Pioneers, as they notched a 42 point win in tough conditions at Craigieburn on Saturday as Ben Guthrie reports.

The howling gale wreaked havoc with the disposal efficiency of both teams, and scoring was difficult for most of the day. Both clubs were forced to alter their game plans, depending on the end to which they were kicking, but it was the Cannons who scored when it mattered most to run away 13.14 (92) to 7.8 (50) winners.

It was a scrappy opening as both teams attempted to adapt to the wind, and Bendigo jumped out to an early ten point lead with the aid of the breeze.

Two long goals from outside 50 from the Pioneers' Ben McPhee epitomised how direct Bendigo were prepared to be.

The Cannons, however, were content to move the ball down the wing and rarely used the corridor when kicking against the wind.

Calder coach Martin Allison urged his charges to play a more attacking style of footy in the second quarter, after what he thought was an indifferent start. "We made a conscious effort to play the game through the corridor," Allison said.

"We just agreed that if we made mistakes in the middle of the corridor we would just wear it." This mindset kick started a rush of goals, including three in a row to Josh Burgess who finished with five on the day. Brandyn Grenfell was easily the best man on the ground, playing in the ruck and up forward. He grasped eight marks, had eight hitouts and gathered 23 possessions, along with two majors.

Not only were Calder able to hit the scoreboard comfortably as they jumped out to a 22 point lead at half time, but they forced the Pioneers into numerous skill errors.

After the main break, Bendigo lifted their work rate and hauled themselves back into the match with consecutive goals from Oscar Wines and Braeden Knox. They closed down Calder's time and space and forced them to kick to contests.

Ethan Foreman stationed himself on the wing and mopped up errant kicks going forward, while Sam Kerridge toiled hard for his side.

Despite all their hard work, Calder managed to contain the Pioneers scoring and drew level on three quarter time after Jack Sheahan calmly slotted through his first goal.

Bendigo coach Mark Ellis was happy with how his team were able to stick with Calder, a side he regards highly.

"The pleasing thing from our point of view was that we maintained a certain amount of (defensive) pressure," Ellis said. "It was disappointing to get beaten, but to be level at three quarter time was pleasing for sure."

In the final term, Calder slammed on six unanswered goals to put the result beyond doubt as they made the most of their opportunities when kicking with the wind.
