AROUND THE GROUNDS

After a well deserved long weekend off for Easter, the AFL Sydney competition resumes this weekend in what we hope will be much clearer skies. All three rounds of the 2014 season have been affected by wet weather so far so we now hope that the sun shines brightly this week as we start a big weekend of footy. Thanks to all clubs for their patience and understanding in what can be frustrating circumstances.

This weekend of football kicks off early as Western Suburbs host Pennant Hills in the traditional AFL Sydney ANZAC Day clash on Friday from Picken Oval. This is always a big day at the home of the Magpies and the club led by Nick Miller and Carlo Zoppo (along with many others) should be congratulated on making this one of the best days on the AFL Sydney calendar. The game itself shapes up as one of the best of the season pitting two highly fancied sides up against each other. The new look Western Suburbs side remain undefeated after 3 rounds (played a draw last week) while last years runners up Pennant Hills returned to form against UNSW/ES to register their 2nd win of the year. ANZAC Day is one of the most important days on the Australian calendar and the opportunity to play football on this day is one that few get to experience and one that all players involved should treasure.

LEST WE FORGET

This week's Match of the Round will see St George travel to Village Green to take on UNSW/ES. St George come into the game on the back of a draw against the highly fancied Western Suburbs while the Bulldogs took it right up to the Demons but were run down late. Tune in at www.youtube.com/aflydneylive from 2:00pm Saturday to catch all the action live from the Premier Division match.

In other matches, Manly-Warringah host rivals UTS at Weldon in what will be a physical clash, Campbelltown will be looking for back to back wins when they take on the impressive Sydney University while North Shore will start strong favourites at home against Sydney Hills Eagles.

After 3 rounds of the Premier Division competition its very even with only Manly on full points. Western Suburbs with two wins and the draw sit in outright second with Sydney University, Pennant Hills and UNSW/ES rounding out the top 5. Expect a reshuffle after the weekends matches.

AFL Sydney Premier Division Tips for Round 4

Giants by 65	Giants by 51

Bombers & Stingrays the teams to beat

We may have only completed one round of the Women's Division One competition but last years Premiers Sydney University and the newly led UNSW-ES both made statements with 70+ point wins. Early days but it appears these two sides will fight it out.

Wray with a six goal haul

Pennant Hills Stephen Wray led the Premier Division weekends top goal kickers with an impressive bag of six against UNSW/ES. Gabe Robbie's seven goals for Sydney University down the grades was a solid return but the weekends top haul was Tayt Corless who finished with nine goals in Penrith's big Division Five win. After three rounds Tayt leads all comers with 19 goals.

ROUND 3 REVIEW

Article by Michael Shillito

Since joining Premier Division, it's been smooth sailing for Manly. Winning the premiership in their first season was a result beyond their wildest dreams. And as they began the defence of their title in 2014, they've hit the ground running. In the third round, it was a short road trip for a local derby, with the Giants travelling to Gore Hill to take on North Shore. The Bombers went into the season on the back of a loss to Sydney Uni and a narrow win over Campbelltown. It was a clash between two teams with hopes of figuring prominently at the business end of the season. It was a wet and windy Saturday, making ball-handling difficult and turning many games into scraps. But thankfully most grounds around the league remained open; and although some games through the divisions had to be moved, all Premier Division matches went ahead as scheduled.

The game started with all the intensity and physical pressure you'd expect from a tightly-fought derby. Two goals apiece were scored in the opening quarter, with the Giants leading by two points at the first change. There were few easy possessions, plenty of solid bumps, and plenty of passion in this encounter; and tempers boiled over as the quarter time siren sounded, all-in for some pushing and shoving.

By the time the second quarter got under way, the rain had stopped and the sun briefly emerged. And the second term would be close to the best quarter of football we've seen in this league so far this season. It was an arm-wrestle, neither side conceding an inch as they worked desperately around the ground, both sides looking for supremacy but failing to find it. Again it was goal for goal, with the Bombers finding the big sticks three times and the Giants twice. When the half time siren sounded, it was North Shore by three points; and most people present were thinking this one would go down to the wire. But it wasn't to be.

The third quarter is known as the premiership quarter. This is where games can be torn apart, and where the top contenders break away from their opponents.

And so it was to prove this time. The sun had gone, the rain was back; and the lights had been switched on to ease the darkening conditions. And the Giants stepped up their intensity to compound the gloom for the Bombers. The Bombers had matched it with the Giants in the first half, but were left behind as Manly showcased the skills and pressure which has taken them to premiership glory. And the scoreboard would reflect the one-sided nature of the quarter, with the Giants adding five unanswered goals to turn the half-time deficit into a 29-point lead.

The game was beyond doubt at the last change, and the heavy ground had taken its toll. There were tired legs in both sides in the last quarter, the intensity was gone; and it was mainly going through the motions in an error-plagued last term as the players sloggged through the miserable conditions. One goal apiece in the final quarter before the siren sounded and hot showers beckoned.

The Giants had maintained their unbeaten start to the season with a 32-point win. Lachlan Kilpatrick, Thomas Thurgarland and Angus Buncle were the Giants' best. For the Bombers, Selby Lee-Steere, Zac Manley and Nick Foster had worked tirelessly; but with a 1-2 record, and that win being far from convincing, the Bombers will be looking to regroup over the Easter break to get back among the top contenders for 2014.

Two teams looking for their first win of 2014 faced off at Trumper Park when UTS hosted Campbelltown on Saturday afternoon. And it would be the Blues who would break their duck with a well-earned 23-point win.

There was plenty of desperation early, and plenty of lead changes, during a closely contested first quarter. Three goals apiece, with the Bats leading by a point at quarter time. But when the teams emerged from their huddles for the second quarter, the Blues took control of the contest. Racing the ball forward, kicking directly on the short ground and finding targets up forward, it didn't take long for the trend to become apparent. With eight goals to two in a high-scoring second term, the Blues took a stranglehold on the match as they led by 36 points at half time.

The Bats tried to keep the scoreboard ticking over in the third term and attempted to work their way back into the contest. But the Blues had the answers, and any challenge was quickly snuffed out. Three goals to each team in the third term and the margin was 39 points at the last change. The game was safe, and although the Bats won the final quarter, the Blues had done enough to take their first win of the season.

Campbelltown had plenty of avenues to goal, with Matt Edwins and Chris Gordon making the most of their chances to finish with four goals each. Taran Etto, along with Gordon and Edwins, were prominent around the ground for the Blues. Adam Baker contributed up forward for the Bats to finish with five goals from limited opportunities; and along with Joshua Maddox and Justin Kenna was among UTS's best.

ROUND 3 REVIEW

UNSW-ES hosted Pennant Hills at the Village Green on Saturday afternoon, with the Bulldogs looking to continue their unbeaten run so far in 2014. And it was looking good for them early as they got off to a flying start. With plenty of run in the damp conditions, the Bulldogs looked to be in control as they kicked five goals to one to lead by 21 points at the first change.

But the Demons hit back hard in the second term. It didn't always work for the Demons, and they missed plenty of shots they should have kicked. But as they began to pump the ball forward more often, weight of opportunities began to have an effect as the goals began to flow. With four goals to one for the quarter, the Demons pegged the Bulldogs' lead back to two points at half time.

The third quarter was goal for goal, as two sides that looked evenly-matched around the ground kept working hard and searched in vain to build some momentum. There were three goals apiece for the quarter, the Bulldogs leading by three points at three quarter time. At that stage, it was anyone's guess who would finish with the four points. But it didn't take long in the last quarter for the Demons to take control, snatching the lead and running away with the contest as the final term progressed. The Bulldogs had led for most of the day, but with the Demons kicking six goals to two in the last quarter, the match finished as a 22-point win for Pennant Hills.

Stephen Wray was a drop of golden sun on a gloomy day, kicking six goals for the Demons in a best-on-ground performance; while Alex Goodall and Aaron Crisfield picked up plenty of the ball around the ground. For the Bulldogs, Jeremy Daniher, Nicholas McGann and Ryan Farrelly kept putting in the hard yards all day. The Demons return to the winning list, while the Bulldogs taste defeat for the first time in 2014.

The two NEAFL-aligned clubs, Sydney Hills Eagles and Sydney Uni, faced off at Bruce Purser Reserve on Saturday evening, in wet and windy conditions not conducive to quality football.

The Students got on top early, making the most of the play during the early exchanges before the ball became too wet and slippery. Four goals to one in the opening term got the Students off to a flying start, opening up a 19-point lead at quarter time. Day turned into night during the second quarter, and with the heavens opening, it was hard enough to see through the torrential rain and even harder to control the ball. The Students would kick the only two goals scored in the second term, leading by 27 points at half time.

The Eagles scored a goal in the third term, but it was a rare highlight in what was proving to be a tough night for the home club. The Students kicked three at the other end during the premiership quarter, stretching the lead to 40 points at three quarter time. The contest was as good as over, but the Students had the sniff of a percentage-booster and shut down any prospect of the Eagles getting anything back on the scoreboard during the final term. And with three unanswered goals in the final quarter, it finished as a 58-point win for Sydney Uni.

Sam Sleigh, Montgomery Krochmal and Joshua Smith boosted their mudlark credentials, being the Students' best. For the Eagles, Matthew Scholz, Harrison Bond and Nick Crowe toiled hard all evening for the Eagles; but with just two goals to show for their efforts, it had been a miserable evening for the Eagles as the Uni defence had been dominant all night.

It was a thriller at Picken Oval on Saturday afternoon, with Wests taking on St George. A contest between two evenly-matched teams finished as a heart-stopper, with the two teams sharing the points for the first draw of 2014. The wet conditions early made it difficult for both sides to adapt their game, but it was the Magpies who would have the better of the early exchanges. The home side would kick the only two goals of the first quarter, to lead by 14 points at quarter time. As the sun emerged in the second term, the Dragons began to lift, but the Magpies had the answers to any challenge the visitors would throw up during the second term. It was three goals apiece in the second quarter, with the home side maintaining a ten-point lead at the long break.

Although the Magpies continued to run hard in the third term, some poor finishing in front of goal would cost them dearly. A return of 2.5 for the quarter would prevent them from gaining reward for effort, and the Dragons would make them pay. Some late goals to the Dragons, to finish with three goals for the quarter, saw the Wests lead reduced to ten points at the last change.

It was a thriller, and the Dragons kept coming back hard in the last quarter. The Magpies managed two goals in the last quarter, but spent much of the term defending desperately against the surging St George midfield as they raced the ball forward with regularity. And the defence would crack, and the Dragons banged four goals in during the last quarter to level the scores. The Magpies had led all day, but the Dragons had pegged them back. The final desperate stages of the match saw the Dragons put the equalising goal through as the final siren sounded.

And so the game would finish as a draw, the first of the season. For the Magpies, it would be the first time they wouldn't collect the four points, but they remain undefeated. Matt Round, Lindsay Scown and Yannick Milligan-Saville had been prominent performers all day for the Magpies. The Dragons after three rounds have the full set of a win, a loss and a draw. Karl Merson, Pat McBride and Stephen Wilsen had been among the Dragons' best.

An interesting statistical oddity from this game is Matt Round was the only player from either side to kick one goal but not kick a second – every other goal-scorer from either side kicked two, none of them kicked a third.

ANZAC DAY

I first read the following in the Football Record, published on Anzac Day 1940. It is a very poignant reminder of war and conflict and how it can touch us and this probably refers more to WWI, because of the date.

Today, most Australians have no idea, no concept of war; How loved ones did not return, how football mates never played again and if they did make it back, they could have been maimed either physically or mentally.

Under the flag-draped casket lies the unknown soldier.

A nation pays him honour. He lies with the great dead, a medal of honour upon his breast.

Guns fire salutes, stern generals, care-burdened leaders join in paying homage.

An unknown soldier. Nameless. Just one of the soldiers who wore his country's uniform and died in the service.

For him the flag hangs at half-mast.

For him the solemn strains of the funeral march.

For him the uncovered heads and the orations.

For him the reverence and the tears of a great people.

An unknown soldier. No! No! No!

You knew him and loved him. He played with you, carried you on his shoulder, dropped sweets on your lap as he passed you. You knew him by name and called to him often. You never thought him as great. He never thought of himself that way. He was your friendly playmate.

He passed you daily on his way to work down at the corner or in the city or on grand dad's farm. His work clothes were the clothes of a worker and his hands were soiled and brown when he passed by at evening. But still he smiled at you.

Remember him now?

THOSE WERE THE DAYS

When the call to war came he said nothing about it. He gathered up his few things. There weren't many. A few shirts and handkerchiefs and a couple of photographs and bunched them into an old suitcase that was held together by one strap. He smiled goodbye to you as he passed on his way to camp.

Remember him now?

You missed him for a while. You heard that he was out at camp and as you wound the brown wool that your mother was knitting into socks you hoped he would get a pair of them. He did. He had then on, when they picked up and tagged his poor broken body and buried it with a little white cross marking the place.

Don't you remember him now? Why he's the one that didn't come back the day the boys marched home, the band playing, the flags flying and all the mothers and sisters cheering and the fathers jumping up and down and shouting madly. He's the one the gold star is for on that honour board that hangs in the local hall.

He's the one. The very one you know.

He's every boy who went out when he was called and laid down his life in the struggle to carry though the duty that was his.

Died doing his duty, the boy of Australia. The boy who whistled and sang and played with you.

Remember him now?

That's the boy. For him the heads are uncovered. For him Australia proudly mourns. Her unknown son.

LEST WE FORGET.

2014 RISING STAR

THEO MORAITIS— PENNANT HILLS

The AFL Sydney Round 3 Rising Star nominee is Theo Moraitis of Pennant Hills.

Theo started playing juniors at Pennant Hills in Under 12's in 2006. He generally played up a year during his career, winning numerous individual awards and playing in two Under 14's premiership sides. In his last year of junior footy he moved to Holroyd Parramatta and played in an U16's premiership.

He then followed in his Dad's and two older brothers footsteps and joined Pennant Hills seniors. Theo was an integral part of the U18's Division One premiership side last year, generally taking the opposition's best forward and organising the back-line.

After a solid pre-season Theo made his Premier Division debut in round one this year, his jumper presented by club stalwart Gus McKernan.

Theo has a great mark, proven through his numerous pack marks and attacks the ball extremely hard, clearing the path for others.

Previous nominees:

Round 1— Taylor Preece (UNSW/ES)

Round 2— Abe Davis (UNSW/ES)

KATE STANTON— WOLLONGONG

The AFL Sydney Women's Round 1 Rising Star nominee is Kate Stanton of Wollongong Saints.

Kate commenced with Auskick when she was 5 years old with the Northern District Tigers. She played through Auskick, u/9's, u/10's and u/12's often stepping up an age group.

In 2010, she played in the Youth Girls competition with the Northern District Tigers playing as an 11 year old against 17 year olds. She won the district best & fairest for Youth Girls in 2011 as a 12 year old. She played again in 2012. The competition folded in 2013.

At the age of 15 years old, Kate has joined the Wollongong Saints and become a dynamic part of the midfield and forward line. Kate has shown she cannot be underestimated or intimidated by the more experienced players in the league.

ANZAC SPIRIT ALIVE AT WESTS

It is true that despite allegiances, the traditional AFL ANZAC Day game has the ability to bring supporters from all clubs, together as one united community – albeit for one day only.

Though some might see it as just a local Sydney game, the stand-alone ANZAC Day clash this Friday between Western Suburbs and Pennant Hills, aims to do the same.

While the courageous ANZAC attitude rises from a time of hardship to which football cannot compare, it is the spirit of mateship that lies within both, which brings the local game to glory.

Western Suburbs representative, Carlo Zoppo says his club understands that this game is like no other on the calendar.

“Our ANZAC Day match has been a special day for Wests for many years. We understand the significance of the day and importantly, the sacrifices that our men and women of the armed forces made in many different conflicts around the world.”

“We enjoy our lifestyles partly due to their efforts.”

For many at the Western Suburbs, ANZAC Day is personal. Having known men and women who have served in conflicts past and present, the Magpies are said to be inspired by their efforts, not only on the field, but also off as some have even joined the services to continue the ANZAC tradition.

“ANZAC Day is their special day, and the one day when we acknowledge their efforts and sacrifices, and remember our fallen servicemen and women.”

Providing the ceremony to which ANZAC Day deserves and expects, Picken Oval and the Western Suburbs Magpies will this year be hosting local dignitaries, members of the Canterbury Hurlstone Park RSL, local youth groups, and their opponents for the day, the Pennant Hills Demons.

As with tradition, each club captain along with representatives from Canterbury Hurlstone Park RSL and Magpie Sports, will lay a wreath at the cenotaph, preceded by the Ode to the Fallen Soldier, and the sound that will ring out across the country throughout the day, the Last Post and Reveille.

The club is also happy to be welcoming the Mayor of Canterbury Council, and football fan, Brian Robson who has been given the honour of tossing the coin prior to the match that starts at 1pm.

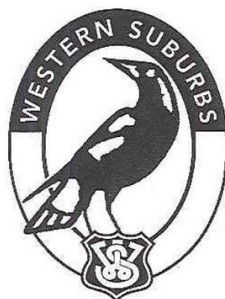

“After the ceremony, the game will commence and the best team - hopefully Wests - will win the match,” says Zoppo.

Last year’s Grand Finalists have the momentum going into the Round 4 matchup, coming off a victory against UNSW Eastern Suburbs last Saturday, while Western Suburbs could only muster a heart-breaking draw against St George.

“We were disappointed about the draw against St George as we led most of the game and had a handy lead going into the fourth quarter. So, we should have been able to keep them out.”

“Otherwise, we are relatively happy with the first two wins of the season. We appreciate that we will only know how we are going once we have played most of the top teams”.

The Magpies encourage all of those that come along, to join the team after the match – win, lose or draw - at the Magpie Sports Club for a game of two-up and a chance to raise a glass. Western Suburbs play Pennant Hills on Friday, 25 April 2014. The ceremony will begin at noon.
