AROUND THE GROUNDS

Last chance to impress for Representative Football

Following this weekend of football, the squads for the Men's and Women's AFL Sydney Representative sides will be announced for the upcoming representative program. Training for the Senior Men's side commences next Wednesday 14th May at Henson Park with the Women's starting on Sunday 18th May at Blacktown International SportsPark. The AFL Sydney Development Squad (23's) commence training the following week also at Henson Park. Good luck to all players in contention.

On cue the rain began to fall as the weekend approached however despite some doubts, all games went ahead as scheduled as the league celebrated Community Umpiring Round. It was a brilliant round of football in the Premier Division competition with our 2nd draw of the year and the biggest margin being just 5 goals.

The closest match of the round was the UTS v Sydney University draw at Waverley in front of a big Ladies Day crowd. It was a game that Sydney University should have wrapped up in the third quarter having all the play but failed to put scoreboard pressure on. The final quarter was a complete reversal as UTS dominated however with less than 2 minutes remaining somehow found themselves a goal behind. Michael May marked & goaled with the last kick of the game to grab the Bat's first points of the season.

Gore Hill Oval hosted a thriller also between North Shore and Western Suburbs which must be close to the best match of the year so far. Numerous lead changes and some quality football saw the Magpies finish the stronger to claim an impressive victory.

Pennant Hills sit in outright 2nd position thanks to their strong 3rd quarter against St George after both sides failed to kick a goal in the opening half! A stat that we are checking the history books to see if it has happened before.

Also celebrating Ladies Day, UNSW/ES showed plenty of fight against Manly however the Premiers prevailed in a great contest while Sydney Hills Eagles claimed their first victory since June last year with an upset victory over a disappointing Campbelltown.

Following Sydney Hills Eagles win and UTS's draw, all teams now have recorded points however it is still Manly-Warringah leading the way. They sit a game clear of the team they defeated in last years grand Final, Pennant Hills with both Western Suburbs and Sydney University half a game behind.

With a major change to the Premier Division structure in the off season, this year we are seeing the most even competition in many years.

This weekend the most evenly matched games appear to be North Shore hosting UNSW/ES and Sydney University hosting Western Suburbs on their Old Boys Day. The Bombers and Bulldogs match is a vital game for both sides who surprisingly sit outside the top 5 and a win could go along way to playing finals.

Have a great weekend at the footy!

ROUND 5 REVIEW

Article and Photos by Michael Shillito

Time moves relentlessly forward, the seasons ever changing. And as April turned into May, the mercury dropped and the cold winds blew around Sydney footy venues. Winter is coming, and it felt like it was here already. But after some morning rain, thankfully the sun came out by the time the Premier Division matches got under way on Saturday afternoon.

At Gore Hill Oval, North Shore played host to Wests. The winner would find themselves in the top five. The Bombers went into the game with two wins, on the back of an impressive performance in their last season. The Magpies were a draw ahead of the Bombers on the ladder, but had tasted defeat for the first time last week. It was a game that promised plenty, and didn't disappoint. It was a game that had everything – some great goals, strong marking, plenty of physical stuff and several lead changes in a game that would be in the balance until the end.

The Magpies made the early front-running, with three goals already on the scoreboard when the game was just a few minutes old. It set up a handy buffer for the Magpies, as the Bombers began to lift around the ground as the quarter progressed. But with five goals to two in the opening term and a 20-point lead, it was looking good for Wests. But the Bombers fought back in the second quarter, tightening up the defence and scoring three unanswered goals, hitting the front late in the quarter and taking a two-point lead into the rooms at the long break.

With the Bombers having reeled in Wests' early lead, it set the stage for an absorbing second half. It would be one where fortunes would wax and wane, momentum swinging back and forth like a pendulum as two evenly-matched sides battled it out. When Wests would get a goal to regain the lead in the third quarter, the Bombers would find an answer. There wasn't much in it after a quarter of four goals to three for the Bombers; and the home side would lead by four points at three quarter time.

Kyall Walford and Daniel Schacher traded goals in the opening minutes of the final term, the lead changing twice more and the Bombers were still slightly in front. But from the centre break, Tom Williamson led out to mark and goal, restoring the lead for the Magpies. And when Clinton McGrath was taken high and a free kick was awarded, the Magpies were seven points clear.

The Bombers weren't finished yet, and when Will Taylor converted a set shot at the 18 minute mark, there was only two points in it. But three minutes later, the Magpies looked to have it under control. Brenton Mumme marked 50 metres out, probably too far out; but played on and wrong-footed his opponent to run around him and shoot truly. The Bombers needed two quick goals, and would have one more roll of the dice, as Jake Monk ran inside 50 and side-stepped around two opponent to have an open goal in front of him. But having done all the hard work, Monk's snap sailed wide; and the chance was gone. The Magpies would run down the clock in the final minutes for a hard-earned eight point win.

It had been an even contest, both sides creating plenty of chances in a game that was always up for grabs and which had gone down to the wire. But it was the Magpies who would hang on the better in the final stages, and they would be holding the parcel when the final layer of time was unwrapped.

Tom Williamson had been sensational all day for the Magpies, kicking five goals in a best-on-ground performance. Brenton Mumme and James Newbury had also made prominent contributions for the Magpies. For the Bombers; Matt Adamson, Selby Lee-Steere and Matt Varjavandi had picked up plenty of the ball all afternoon.

UTS's Ladies Day is one of the biggest days in the Sydney footy social calendar, and the Bats again pulled out all the stops to put on a big day of entertainment at Waverley Oval. But the biggest entertainment event was the game of footy as the Bats hosted Sydney Uni, and it would be a cliff-hanger.

The Bats, going into this match looking for their first win in 2014 and on the back of a humiliating defeat last week, gave every indication early that there would be no repeat this time round. Contesting every possession against the Students, the Bats refused to concede easy goals this time. Two goals apiece in the first quarter, with the Students leading by a point at quarter time.

But when the Students attempted to kick away in the second term, they would frustrate themselves. Missing some shots at goal that should have been kicked, the Students found themselves overtaken by the more accurate home side; and although the Students had the better of play around the ground, the Bats kicked two goal to one to lead by two points at half time. There were two goals apiece in the third term, with the Students again having many more chances but getting behinds from most of them; and it was Sydney Uni by a point at the last change.

There'd been plenty of social events happening around the ground, but with such a thrilling contest, all attention was on the action on the oval as the last quarter got under way. And it was a quarter that would entertain and captivate the audience through numerous momentum swings and lead changes. The Bats got to a seven-point lead in time-on, but a point, an intercepted goal and then another to James Howard within a minute saw the Students take the lead. But the Bats had one more chance in the dying seconds, as Michael May led out to mark 25 metres out. The pressure was enormous, but May rose to the occasion as he calmly stepped back and slotted the goal through to level the scores. The ball went to the centre for the bounce, and immediately the siren sounded; with the scoreboard showing the teams couldn't be separated.

ROUND 5 REVIEW

The Bats remain winless, but at least the draw gives them their first premiership points for the season; while the Students remain comfortably in the top five. Damon Collina, Dean Ipaviz and Thomas Sundberg were best for the Bats; while the Students were well served by the efforts of Harry Dobson, Jacob Swarts and Peter Hughes.

The cold and windy conditions contributed to a bizarre match at Mike Kenny Oval, as Pennant Hills played host to St George.

The swirling breeze made it difficult to get a long kick going with any certainty of where it would finish, as well as making it hard for anyone to judge their position in a marking contest. And both sides were making a mess of their goal-kicking chances in the first half. Neither side could manage a goal in the first half, with the Dragons leading by a point at quarter time and scores tied up at eight behinds apiece at the long break.

But by the time the players emerged from the rooms for the second half, the wind had thankfully eased; while the Demons had steadied their goal-kicking nerves. After a first half in which neither side had drawn twin flags from the goal umpires, the Demons suddenly turned on a rush of major scores to slay the Dragons' chances. Seven goals were scored by the Demons in the third term, while at the other end the Dragons managed to eke out their first of the afternoon.

The Demons held a 38-point lead at three quarter time. But to the Dragons' credit, they didn't give up in the final term; and with two goals to one, would win the quarter. But it was the Demons' day, the explosive third term proving to be the difference between the two sides.

On a day when goals were hard to come by, Stephen Wray stood up and was counted to bag four goals for the afternoon. Around the ground, James Dunn, Damian Dell'Aquila and Lloyd Shepherd were prominent contributors for the Demons. For the Dragons, Nick Ryan, Dominic Killworth and Harrison Green battled tirelessly all afternoon.

UNSW-ES hosted ladder leaders Manly at the Village Green on Saturday afternoon. The Giants continued their unbeaten 2014 season, getting the early jump on the Bulldogs to run out to what would be a match-winning lead; although the Bulldogs would match it with the defending champions for the final three quarters of the game.

The game was effectively over at quarter time after an explosive opening term. Bursting out of the blocks, banging the ball towards the goals with regularity and out-running and out-tackling their Bulldog opponents, the Giants soon piled on the scoreboard pressure. Six goals to two in the opening term, and the Giants were 28 points ahead at quarter time. But the Bulldogs steadied in the second term, stopping the rot and fighting back to win the quarter. With a run of four goals to two, the Bulldogs reduced the Manly lead to 16 points at half time and keep themselves in the contest.

Last week, the second half saw the Giants turn a big win into a rout. The Bulldogs showed plenty of spirit and determination to prevent that from happening again, although they never looked a chance to get back into the contest. The third quarter became a defensive scrap, the Giants unable to turn on their best play but still managing to score the only goal of the quarter to lead by 23 points at three quarter time.

The Bulldogs had shown plenty of fighting spirit, and continued to do so in the last quarter. But it wasn't enough for them to be any chance of stealing the game, as the Giants had built up too much of a buffer during the opening term. And the Giants had the answering goal to any challenge the Bulldogs would mount; and that continued in the last quarter as the visitors scored three goals to two to run out 31-point winners.

David Stroud, Jordan Weir and Gareth Benbow had been best for the Giants; while Ryan Plant, Alex Henderson and Jeremy Daniher had been tireless workers for the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs had matched it with the Giants for three quarters, but the Manly machine continues to roll along undefeated, their hopes of going back to back getting stronger every week.

The value of a good start was also evident at Monarch Oval, where early goals from Sydney Hills Eagles was enough for them to collect their first win of the season, an 18-point result against Campbelltown.

The Eagles got off to a flyer, finding room to move on the massive Monarch ground and finding attacking options when they needed them. Six goals to two in the opening quarter opened up a 22-point quarter time lead. The Eagles found their confidence returning; although they were forced into defence a lot more in the second term, they stood firm with two goals to one and led by 29 points at the long break.

The Blues searched for a way back into the contest during the third term, but came up blank. Although they tried hard to find avenues to goal, and were successful twice, the Eagles had the answers to any challenge the Blues would attempt. And with three goals for the quarter, the Eagles got out to a 37-point lead at the last change.

It hadn't been Campbelltown's day, but they salvaged some respectability in the final term. The Eagles had enough of a safety margin on the scoreboard that the result of the game was never in doubt; but the Blues played much better football in the final term. A run of four goals to one in favour of the Blues cut the margin in half, but this was the Eagles' day and the first time they would get to sing their song this season.

Damon Steer was the driving force behind the Eagle forward line, finishing with four goals. Around the ground, Dean Costello, Aaron Drinkwater and Ken Ewen-Chappell were ball magnets all afternoon. Hamish Sherwood, Taran Etto and Nathan Lomas had been best for the Blues.

VFA TEAM WILLIAMSTOWN PLAYS IN WOLLONGONG

Would you think that the VFA premiers would play in Wollongong? Well in October 1949, Williamstown who this year celebrate their 150th anniversary and who then only a week before had won their 5th VFA premiership before a record crowd of 40,000 when they defeated Oakleigh, 10.5 (65) to 8.14 (62), played a game at Wollongong Showground.

The tour of Wollongong had been planned for some time in an effort to promote the code in the city and surrounds. Their attendance was arranged with local officials under the impression that they had secured as opposition, the likely Sydney premiers, Newtown, to play a combined Williamstown/Illawarra combination in an exhibition match at the Wollongong Showground on Saturday 8 October. The proceeds of the game was to go to the Illawarra Ambulance. All ambulance services in NSW then were locally and mostly volunteer funded.

At the time, Newtown were the gun side in Sydney. They had won the 1945-48 flags and went on to win the premiership again in 1949-50, giving them six successive titles. They suffered only one defeat in 1949 so would have been perfect opponents for the VFA premiers. Only a week before they defeated the Eastern Suburbs club by one point to annex the premiership at the Sydney Showground, Moore Park.

However a bombshell hit organisers early on the Saturday morning when Illawarra FC official, Bob Watkins, received a telegram from the NSW AFL Secretary, Ken Ferguson advising that Newtown would not be making the trip so a last minute re-arrangement of teams had to be rapidly made. And these were the days of limited phones.

Mr Ferguson blamed the Newtown club entirely for their lack of attendance. He said they had previously agreed to the encounter some six weeks previous however the Newtown club delegate had informed his club secretary of the match only a matter of days before the game but it took until Saturday before they announced their decision not to participate! In anyone's book, this was a major stuff-up.

Quite understandably, Wollongong officials were furious with Newtown's non-attendance and in terms which only part of could be reported here said that "it was inexcusable and not only disheartening to Illawarra officials but would give the visiting team a very poor impression on the conduct of the code in this state."

THOSE WERE THE DAYS

In all sixty three had made the trip to Wollongong, including 24 players and, it was reported, a further sixty club supporters would have also travelled with the group if accommodation could have been found. The entire contingent stayed at the now closed Headlands Hotel, Austinmer, a village well north of Wollongong itself.

They had travelled by rail from Melbourne to Moss Vale where they changed trains to journey across country through Robertson on the now 'freight-only' and special excursion train track. This line is one of the most scenic in New South Wales, and for the first 20 km after leaving Unanderra (heading west) has an almost continuous grade 1 in 30, at the same time, providing spectacular view over the Illawarra coastline.

The Seagulls were coached by Gordon Ogden and captained by football superstar, Ron Todd, who had crossed to Williamstown from Collingwood in 1940 under very acrimonious circumstances. As a result Todd was banned from further participation in the VFL.

The 'NSW' or the combined side for Sunday's game was made up of about nine Sydney players, all of whom had represented the state. The rest come from the local club including, dual Phelan Medalist of 1949 & 50 seasons, Ken Gilbert, who worked as an engineer at the BHP Port Kembla steel mills. Illawarra were then in their first of two years in the Sydney competition.

Fortunately a set of Eastern Suburbs jumpers had been sent with Ray Millington (a current member of the History Society – now 81 who went onto play with Fitzroy) to enable two teams to take the field. The weather for the match was atrocious and it bucketed down on the soft sandy Showground surface. It was not surprising that the Illawarra-Williamstown combination won the game 12.10 (82) to the composite team's 11.10 (76). 1949 was one of wettest years on record.

Goalkicking idol, Ron Todd, who had booted 999 goals in senior football to that date, could only manage four for his side while the goalkickers for the combined side were Jim Cracknell (Sydney FC) 3, Ted Butcher (South Sydney FC) 3, Ray Millington (Eastern Suburbs) 3, Jack Armstrong (South Sydney) & Peter Wilhelm (Illawarra FC) 1 each.

2014 RISING STAR

HARRY DOBSON—SYDNEY UNIVERSITY

After playing one Premier Division match last year, Dobson transferred over from Illawarra to Sydney University during the off-season and is currently apart of the Swans Academy Program.

Last year, Dobson played in Illawarra's Under 18 side playing 19 games and being named in the best an astonishing 17 times and also polling 11 votes in the Under 18 Best and Fairest award.

Harry is a hard working midfielder and in his first game for the Students, he was voted their best player in the draw against UTS.

Sydney University have high hopes for Harry to one day be a settled NEAFL player and eventually an AFL footballer. A little way to go yet but he certainly has the tenacity to get there

Previous nominees:

Round 1— Taylor Preece (UNSW/ES)

Round 2— Abe Davis (UNSW/ES)

Round 3—Theo Moraitis (Pennant Hills)

Round 4—Callum Mills (North Shore)

WAFAA ELWADIA— AUBURN GIANTS

Wafaa was introduced to AFL at a gala day in South West Sydney where the Auburn GIANTS were involved. At 19 years of age she has enormous potential to improve rapidly and compete with experienced players.

Wafaa is only new to the game however she is quickly learning the rules and skills.

Wafaa's effort in Round 2 was impressive as she played ruck for the first time. She focused on the ball and didn't let anything get in her way. She put in 100% at every contest to win the ball for her team. She was recognised by her team winning the Players Award for her effort and willingness to get the ball off the ground.

Previous nominees:

Round 1— Kate Stanton (Wollongong)

Round 2—Jasmine Smith (UNSW/ES)

STUDENTS WELCOME BACK OLD BOYS

By Caitlin Arnold

This Saturday at Sydney University Oval Number One, marks the annual 'Old Boy's Day' for the club in gold and blue.

With a footprint firmly marked within the history of the local AFL scene, Sydney University take the opportunity of Old Boy's Day to not only commemorate past players, but also former alumni, coaches, presidents, volunteers, sponsors and supporters.

Current Club President Chas Wilkinson is quick to acknowledge that it is not only the players who make for a successful club.

"While there is a male-centric message in 'Old Boys', it really is a time where we look to our whole past...it's about anyone who has been involved in our football club."

The day will begin with a match between past players and then move into lunch and evening functions for the attendees, while the NEAFL side take on Queanbeyan and Premier Division plays Western Suburbs on the pitch. The unfurling of the 2013 Blue's (Division Two) Premiership Flag will also take place on the day - much to the delight of the club and crowd. Wilkinson explains that providing a platform on which former and current players can mix, is viewed as an important step in building traditions at the club.

"Sometimes you need that past connection to maintain tradition."

With the future of the club on the minds of the committee as much as the past, Sydney University will be looking to field a Master's side in 2015. Named the 'Grey's' - a tongue-in-cheek reference to the University's team colour naming system of Platinum's, Red's, Blue's and Gold's - the side will provide an opportunity to reengage with the club's alumni.

In the lead up to this weekend's event, the club has invited their players to participate in 'Retro Training Week' which is designed as a tip-of-the-hat to the player's junior clubs.

"Retro Training Week is an opportunity for people at the club to recognise their Sydney based or inter-state junior club by wearing their junior jersey at training.

"We also invite past players down during the week...to watch the players train so they can see where the state-league side has taken the club in a training sense - in terms of professionalism."

With all but one of the men's and women's teams in the top half of their respective division ladders, the future at Sydney University looks bright. Their NEAFL side sits sixth and as Wilkinson explains, the depth now seen at the club has been well planned.

"It's Fantastic. It's the result of a lot of hard work in recruiting, not just in the off-season, but also over the last two years. It can really be attributed to the good work of Daniel Gilmore, and club executives who have also played a strong role in making sure that we could get each player in that playing group."

In a unique position to most of the teams in Sydney AFL, Sydney University have been able to work successfully from a model of offering university scholarships to their players, potentially providing enhanced career prospects post-football and ultimately attracting their targeted players.

"We give the opportunity to study but also to develop as a young person and to the highest level of football...it's an important message for us.

"We're really happy when you look at the results on field, but it's about the complete environment for us. Facing Queanbeyan on 'Old Boy's Day', the Sydney University NEAFL side will have the upper hand after already defeating their opposition convincingly this season.

"Losing - given the track record we have against them not only this year but last year - would be very disappointing. Certainly in front of the Old Boys on Sydney Uni Oval Number One...we will be looking for victory on the day," proclaims Wilkinson.

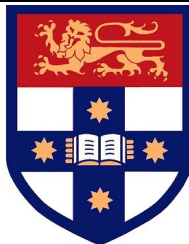

It is important for Sydney University to assure their supporters that their executive committee has the success of the club firmly at the forefront of all decisions made.

"We have brought in some experienced topline players with state-league credentials and we also have a good crop of younger players - some of whom are playing state-league already. In our first game this year, no less than five of our players selected in the senior side were in fact a product of our Under 18s directly.

"Of course, we have Jack Hiscox playing with the Swans Reserves and a total of five players in the RAMS squad this year," Wilkinson proudly notes.

Sydney University play Western Suburbs at 2:45pm following the NEAFL match.

"The club welcomes all past players back to SUANFC and thanks you for your attendance and contribution to the club over the years."
