AROUND THE GROUNDS

This weekend around the country the AFL will celebrate Multicultural Round, now in its fourth year.

This AFL Multicultural Round, we celebrate cultural diversity at all levels of Australian Football.

Australian Football has the extraordinary power to bring people together regardless of background.

Everything's possible when we unite through the love of the game.

Many Cultures, One Game.

We highlight the contribution multicultural communities have made to the game's history and welcome new communities to embrace Australia's game in the future.

Multicultural Round is an opportunity to promote the inclusiveness of our game at all levels and highlight the role it plays in Australian culture. Multicultural communities engage with Australian football in many ways. This year there is a focus on demonstrating the connection beyond the elite level to include a community focus from participation to fan engagement, umpiring, volunteering etc.

Did you know that in 2014 there are 112 Multicultural players representing over 40 cultures and more than 100,000 participations involved in multicultural programs?

These programs build social capital in diverse communities and provide opportunities for new migrants to be engaged in Australian culture through football.

On the park this week our Match of the Week will be the 2nd v 4th clash as St George host Pennant Hills at Olds Park. Tune in from 2pm for this important game. Victory for Pennant Hills would all but assure them a top 2 finish while a Dragons win would go a long way to securing an all important double chance come finals. All the action live at www.youtube.com/aflsydneylive

The race for 5th position in Premier Division has really heated up in recent weeks and this weekends games could go a long way to confirming this. Campbelltown who now sit just half a win outside 5th face UNSW/ES in a very winnable game while Sydney University who are just clinging on to 5th face the back in form Western Suburbs. If results go as expected then Campbelltown could find themselves in the top 5 for the first time in many years. Both sides face the big 2 in Manly-Warringah and Pennant Hills in the run home so this weekends results could ultimately decide who will play finals.

In other matches, North Shore host UTS while bottom of the table Sydney Hills Eagles face the unenviable task of taking on top of the table Manly-Warringah.

Have a great weekend at the footy!

ROUND 13 REVIEW

Article and Photos by Michael Shillito

Five rounds to go until the finals, and there's a huge gap between fourth and fifth. The top four look to be secure in the finals; but only three of them will get the double-chance when the playoffs come around. And at Olds Park on Saturday afternoon, we found out that the race for the double-chance will be very tight.

St George vs Western Suburbs

It was a sunny but cold afternoon as St George took on Wests. The Dragons went into the game on the back of a seven-game winning streak; and the club was buoyed by an announcement that it won't be long before Olds Park has lights installed to be able to play night games. It would be a low-scoring and often scrappy game; but the result could be critical once the finals come around. The two sides had played out a draw at Picken Oval earlier in the season, and there didn't look to be much between the two sides in the early exchanges this time. If anything, the Dragons had more of the ball in general play; but weren't able to achieve reward for effort on the scoreboard. The Magpies scored two goals to one for the quarter, and it was Wests by two points at quarter time. It was a similar story in the second term. Although the Dragons were creating more opportunities, the Magpies were making better use of theirs. Five straight goals to half time, a run of three goals to two in the second term; and when the teams returned to the rooms at half time, the Magpies had a six-point advantage.

It was looking tight in the first half, but the Magpies took control of the contest in the premiership quarter, pulling away to what would be a match-winning lead. With the wind unpredictably picking up and slowing down, it wasn't always pretty to watch; but it was effective for the Magpies. Three goals to one for the quarter saw the margin out to 22 points at the last change. And the Dragons had nothing more to give in the last quarter; unable to score a goal as the Magpies added another three. With the win, the Magpies drew level on games with the Dragons, to move to equal third place. And when the calculators were called into action after the game, the impact of the Magpies' strong second half became apparent. The Magpies' percentage has overtaken St George's; and Wests now sit in third place on the ladder. There's not much in it, and still five weeks to go. A St George win would have opened up a two-game break for the double-chance, but instead the Dragons face a very real risk of playing sudden-death finals.

Taylor Williamson and Wayd Blackburne spearheaded the Magpie attack, finishing with four goals apiece. Around the ground, Leigh Conway, Tim Lambert and Mathew Lemme were getting plenty of the ball all day. Dominic Killworth, Jordan West and Ben Jones were St George's best. It hadn't been a great game, the windy conditions didn't really allow it to be; but it had its highlights. None more so than a hanger of a mark by Wayd Blackburne that would rank among the best seen in Sydney AFL for many a long year.

Wests and St George sit in third and fourth place, but look safe for the finals. There's a four-game break to fifth place, which looks too big a gap to bridge.

Sydney University vs Sydney Hills Eagles

Sydney Uni have lost more games than they've won, clinging desperately to fifth place. But despite their indifferent form in recent weeks, they still had too much class on display to be troubled by bottom side Sydney Hills Eagles when they met at Number 1 Oval on Saturday evening.

The Eagles put up some resistance early, but the Students had the answers; three goals to two and a seven-point lead at quarter time. In the second term, the game became a shootout; and it was the home side who had the firepower and ammunition to take control. On the short University ground, it's only one kick from the centre square to deep in the forward line; and both sides were going direct in the second term, keeping the scoreboard ticking over. But the Students were more effective, six goals to four, and the Students led by 22 points at half time.

ROUND 13 REVIEW

Sydney Uni were in complete control, and continued their relentless march in the third term. But the Students at times were their own worst enemy, and some appalling inaccuracy in front of goals meant they didn't quite achieve the superiority on the scoreboard that the trends in general play suggested they should. But inaccurate return of 5.9 for the quarter was more than enough against an outclassed Eagles side that could only manage two goals for the term; the lead out to 46 points at three quarter time. The last quarter was similar to the third, with the Students continuing to attack the goals but landing a wayward 5.8 while holding the Eagles goal-less for the final term.

It was an 82-point win for the Students, a comfortable result, but the margin could so easily have been in three figures. But it was more than enough to break the losing streak and keep their spot in the top five. Dominic Vincent kicked five goals for the Students and James Howard four; Vincent, along with Aron Everett and Sam Crichton being the Students' best. Scott Pierce fought a rearguard action for the Eagles to finish with five goals; and along with Aaron Drinkwater and Ryan Fitton was among the Eagles' best.

North Shore vs Campbelltown

In the pack of teams chasing the Students for the last finals spot, there's a new leading challenger. Campbelltown, who haven't been part of the playoff action since 2009, moved up to sixth place on Saturday afternoon with a 41-point win over North Shore at Gore Hill Oval.

A scrappy first quarter saw neither side able to build any form of coherent attacking structure, and wasn't a period of play that reached any great heights. The Blues kicked the only two goals of the opening term, leading by 11 points at quarter time; but it was in the second term that they took the upper hand. The scoreboard was ticking over more often in the second quarter, every one of the six goals that the Blues kicked saw the players loudly celebrating; while the Bombers could only find the big sticks once.

The margin was 43 points in favour of the Blues at half time, and the Campbelltown juggernaut rolled on in the third term as they would add another six goals to three. With a 62-point lead at three quarter time, the game was safe. North Shore had been shell-shocked, but lifted in the last quarter, showing some spirit and playing like they rarely have managed to do this season to win the last quarter five goals to one and recover some of the enormous deficit.

With three wins in a row, the Blues have built some momentum and now find themselves just half a game outside the top five. Brenton Sommerville, Taran Etto and Joconiah Peni were influential around the ground for the Blues; and confidence is rapidly growing in the Campbelltown camp. Ron Wason kicked four goals for the Bombers, while James McKenzie, Chris Bandy and Matt Adamson were their best. But the Bombers are stuck six points behind Sydney Uni with a poor percentage, and when finals prospects are described with terms such as "still mathematically possible", hopes are fading fast.

UTS vs Pennant Hills

At Waverley Oval on Saturday afternoon, Pennant Hills ensured there is no mathematical way they can miss out on finals action, while striking a dagger into the heart of UTS's finals hopes; when the Demons dominated from start to finish to win by 76 points.

For the first three quarters, the pattern was familiar and the trend was clear. Each of the quarters saw the Demons outscore the Bats by four goals to one. A lead of 21 points at quarter time, 40 at half time and 61 at the last change. Around the ground, the Demons were dominant, accumulating possessions at will and facing little resistance from their UTS counterparts.

It was the Demons at their best, and the Bats found no way to resist the Pennant Hills charge. By the time the three quarter time siren sounded, the game was secure. In the last quarter, the pressure was off and it was an exhibition of free-flowing footy. High scoring and entertaining to watch, the final quarter saw the Demons score six goals to four; wrapping up another impressive win.

ROUND 13 REVIEW

He who was last in alphabetical order on the team sheet came first on the forward line, as Sam Zikman recorded a five-goal haul for the Demons. Around the ground, Matt Thomas, Lloyd Shepherd and Thomas Edmonds were ball magnets. The win keeps the Demons in second place; and with St George's loss, the Demons are six points ahead of the tight battle for third. Barring some calamitous loss of form in the run home to the finals, the Demons should be safe for the double-chance in the finals.

Adrian Morley, Joshua Maddox and Nicolas Kerber were best for UTS. But it was another disappointing result for the Bats; one that, combined with Sydney Uni's win, leaves the Bats two games behind Sydney Uni with an inferior percentage. Although it's still mathematically possible for them to make the five, they'd need to win all their remaining games and be depending on other results. In their fourth season in Premier Division, appearing in the finals continues to elude them.

Manly Warringah vs UNSW/ES

Ladder leaders Manly returned to their best form at Weldon Oval on Saturday afternoon with a dominant display against UNSW-ES; a result that sees the Bulldogs' finals hopes in severe jeopardy. The Giants were always in front, but the Bulldogs were staying with them during the early stages of the game. Four goals to two in the opening quarter and a 13-point quarter time lead; and the Bulldogs were putting the Giants under pressure. But as the second term progressed, the Giants slowly but surely took control of proceedings, a run of five goals to two in the quarter taking the lead out to 24 points at the long break.

Games can be blown out during the premiership quarter, and that was certainly the case this time. When the teams emerged from the rooms for the second half, the Manly side that came out was full of running, finding plenty of targets and leaving the Bulldogs in their wake as they asserted complete control. And the scoreboard reflected the around the ground dominance, with eight goals to one stretching the Giants' lead to 68 points at the last change.

It was a strong performance by the Giants, and they continued on their winning ways with a run of four goals to two in the final quarter to run out 81-point winners. The Giants remain on top, having lost only one game for the season and with an imposing percentage. But the Bulldogs are stranded six points out of the five and a game behind Campbelltown, but with a better percentage than the Blues.

Tyrone Armitage took over the goal-kicking responsibilities for the Giants, finishing with four goals. Around the ground, Thomas Thurgarland, Tyrone Armitage and Jimi McDonald played a prominent role in proceedings. Tim Cummins kicked four goals for the Bulldogs to be their best; while Alex Henderson and Hayden Nichols also worked hard all afternoon.

There's some critical games next week. UNSW-ES will need to win at Monarch next week to keep their finals hopes alive; while North Shore v UTS will see one team's finals hopes officially come to an end. Pennant Hills can wrap up the double-chance against St George. Wests will be looking for a win against Sydney Uni to keep themselves in third; but if the Students go down to the Magpies, it leaves an opening for Campbelltown to pounce and enter the top five.

CLUB CULTURE STRONG AT PARRAMATTA

By Caitlin Arnold

When you ask Holroyd Parramatta's Clive Sharp what the club has been doing right this year, it is what they are doing off the field – rather than on it – which is touted as the key to their success.

Even though the club's four teams (Division One, Division Four, Division Five and Under 19s Division Two) are providing some positive performances on the field so far this year, Sharp names a strong club culture as one of their greatest attributes.

"The vibe around the club is at a high point right now with great camaraderie across all grades and the players really buying into what was already a strong club culture.

"This is testament to our stable committee, senior coaching staff and outstanding leadership from the senior players," explains Sharp.

The Goannas currently sit within the top half of the Division One (5th) and Division Four (3rd) ladders; however are placed last in Division Five and Under 19s. What it is that the Goannas seem to hold is belief, regardless of their varying range of results.

"Although we consistently make the finals, we haven't been able to go the distance.

"[We want to] focus on delivering some solid four quarter efforts in the tail end of the season which will help lay a foundation for finals success.

"Division One are just hitting their stride and are in finals contention. Our reserves in Division Four are also firing on all cylinders and have been consistent all year.

"You'd always like to be close to the top of the ladder with a double shot in the finals already sewn up, but both competitions are very even at the top end which makes for a very exciting season."

Sharp lauds the efforts of forward Ben Rogers, and Arin Rickett and Angus Barwick – each the son of Holroyd Parramatta legends – as integral to the confident display shown by the Goannas' senior and reserve squads in the opening half of the season.

The plight of AFL clubs coming out of Western Sydney has not always been easy as they contend with the domination of other footballing codes, however with the introduction of the Greater Western Sydney Giants – of whom the Goannas are associated – Sharp says that awareness of AFL in the area has grown.

"We have enjoyed an excellent relationship with the Giants, hosting their first couple of pre-seasons at Gipps Road Oval.

"Awareness of our game has certainly grown with the emergence of the Giants and their good form this season.

"Our junior club's Auskick numbers are a good benchmark of the great job the Giants have done in marketing football and their brand in Western Sydney."

Holroyd Parramatta is keen to capitalise on their area's newfound interest in AFL but are wary of spreading themselves too thin. As such, the Goannas are focusing on becoming successful with what they have already before expanding into new initiatives such as a women's team.

"At the moment our focus is very much on player retention through the junior ranks and providing a positive environment for our young players.

"Promotion for our first grade and reserve sides is high on the agenda for us.

"Ultimately we want to be seen to be the premier football club in Western Sydney."

SHEPHERD BRINGS UP TON

This Saturday against St George will see key defender Lloyd Shepherd playing his 100th senior game for the Pennant Hills Demons.

Lloyd joined Penno in season 2004 after playing over 50 senior games with Dubbo including in their 2003 premiership team. He was a member of the successful 2006 Demons premiership winning team and was a member of Sydney representative teams during this time.

In season 2010 Lloyd transferred to Albury where he played 78 games with the Albury Tigers including playing in 2 winning grand finals out of the 4 he played in. In 2010, his first season with Albury, he played in the NSW Country representative team and also the Ovens and Murray team.

Lloyd returned to Sydney earlier this year and was a welcome return to the Demons where he has again fitted in as a key defender. His ability to match physically strong key forwards is the main attribute of his play. His height, strength and agility are the key to him being an uncompromising competitor. His performance in the Anzac Day game against Western Suburbs saw him awarded the medal for best on ground.

In the Demons annual game at Ern Holmes oval on 5th July, against ladder leaders Manly, he was successful in winning the Bill Carey medal with another best on ground performance. Lloyd represented AFL Sydney in their representative game this year.

On behalf of everyone at Pennant Hills we extend our congratulations on this achievement.

Congratulations also to Penrith's Alan Prowse (Pictured left getting carried off), who played his 200th game for the club last weekend in their Div 5 side's win over UTS. Alan started with the club in 1998 and becomes the 14th player to reach 200 games for the Rams.

Patrick Pope also brought up his 50th game for the Rams.

NSW'S RECORD IN INTERSTATE FOOTY

We have often been asked about NSW's history of interstate games and how successful they had been over the years.

Well we can tell you that the NSW Football Association, the forerunner to the NSW Australian Football League, played their first representative game at the MCG on 1 July 1881. The match was against the then VFA which was the first controlling body for football in Victoria. The VFL was formed in 1897 from some clubs that then comprised the VFA.

Behinds were not counted in the score in those days, winners were judged by the number of goals they kicked and just as well in this first game because the VFA or Victoria, kicked 9-24 to 0-1. The game in Sydney had only been going for 12 months while of course it was founded in Melbourne with the first game recognized as being played in 1858.

NSW played twenty six representative games between 1881 and until the Association's demise in 1894 and only won against their regular nemeses, Queensland. They drew several of their other matches, mostly because behinds were not counted, an anomaly in the game that was changed in 1897.

When the code was resurrected in Sydney in 1903, VFL clubs were falling over themselves to visit and play against the locals. Some of the games were listed as NSW versus ... or Metropolitan or alternatively, Combined Sydney and many of the records of the matches were lost or no effort was kept to maintain them. So it has taken many long years of research and investigation to locate details of the respective games.

NSW's most significant victories have been two over the VFL which were both played in Sydney. They won the first of these in 1923, 15-11 to 11-19 and the other two years later by a point 13-10 to 13-9. It is fair to say though on the weekends these games were played, the VFL fielded at least two other representative sides playing other interstate games so maybe their top side was not that which was fielded against NSW.

In the first thirty years of the last century they defeated Queensland (on several occasions), Port Adelaide, Geelong (twice), Tasmania (twice), South Adelaide, West Torrens, Port Adelaide, Melbourne, ACT, Sth Aust Football Assn and most of these games were played in Sydney. They lost the rest which we have calculated as seventy.

THOSE WERE THE DAYS

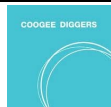

The state has competed in numerous national carnivals, which up until the first war were played every three years in different states however in latter decades were relegated to competition between Tasmania, ACT and Queensland while the other states played in the same carnival but against supposedly (and more correctly) stronger opposition between themselves.

NSW have also played in at least three amateur carnivals, the most recent in a country championships carnival in Wagga in 2012. The other two were held in Adelaide in 1936 and Launceston in 1938 and we have included a photograph of the team taken as they travelled to the apple isle by boat.

As part of the 1988 Bi-Centenary celebrations, a pure State of Origin team was selected to compete in the carnival in Adelaide. They lost their game against South Australia but recorded their first ever win over WA 10-8 to 9-12.

Some might remember the pseudo State of Origin team NSW fielded on a rainy night game against the VFL on May 22 at the SCG. They won that match 13-8 to 10-16, much to the chargin of Victorian selector, Ted Whitton. We say pseudo because the team contained several Sydney Swans players who were not born, nor played their junior football in NSW.

To sum it up, NSW have lost far more than they have won in interstate contests and now the state combines their fortunes with players selected from the ACT, so here's to the future.

JIMMY MCKENZIE—NORTH SHORE

James is a graduate of St Ignatius and was 4th in Keeley Medal 2013 with Riverview, before joining a number of his ex-Riverview team mates at North Shore for the start of the 2014 season.

It was initially expected that Jimmy would play a mix of under 19's and Premier division in 2014, but his pre-season form was good enough for him to be selected in the Premier division side for round 1 and his form since then has been so good that he has remained in it.

Coach Jon Hayres says "Jimmy is a fantastic young man who works extremely hard on his game and listens well to the advice that he gets from senior players. It's well known that the club has had a difficult run with injuries and the absence of senior players can make it difficult for the younger players learning to adapt to senior football, but Jimmy has turned this situation around and has taken on that responsibility himself. He's been in terrific form over the past six weeks and thoroughly deserves his Rising Star nomination for another outstanding effort on the weekend."

Jimmy is a skilful, hard running midfielder who is sure to have a bright future at North Shore.

HAYAT AJAJ—AUBURN

Hayat has never played competitive sport or watched an AFL game before joining the Auburn Giants.

From her first game, she dominated her opponents, taking big marks and kicking goals.

She is a natural athlete. Despite being petite, she is fearless and puts her body on the line.

In her second game she dislocated her shoulder. However her dedication and commitment allowed her to successfully return on the weekend and she didn't miss a beat, again taking marks and kicking a goal.

With more game time under her belt Hayat is the player to watch in the Giants forward line.
