SPORTING HIGHLIGHTS

Briefly describe the student's attitude and motivation through their participation in physical education and sport i.e. Provide an example of when they displayed good sportsmanship and/or explain the student's involvement in the above criteria (200 words max). This citation will be presented in a booklet to each student. Example: Sue is an outstanding role model in sport and physical education. Her positive attitude is quite contagious. She leads by example and has sustained an excellent level of participation in a range of sports. Her level of determination is second to none! Sue maintains exemplary conduct on the sporting field and embodies the qualities of fair play, respect and sportsmanship.

RED DUST – HEALTHY LIVING PROGRAM

- ☐ Please tick the box if you are interested in applying for the Red Dust Healthy Living Program.

Health Promotion in Remote Indigenous Communities

Generations of Indigenous Australians in remote communities have lived a life impacted by poor health. This affects the whole community, especially young people.

Red Dust Role Models partners with remote communities to target specific local needs and encourage Indigenous youth to learn more and improve knowledge about their health through sport, art, music and dance.

In September 2016 Red Dust will be undertaking a Healthy Living Program in Areyonga, NT – 224 kms South West of Alice Springs. We invite the State Sporting Association to nominate a Pierre de Coubertin Award finalist to join us on this program. This will be the same student you nominate for the Pierre de Coubertin award.

The successful candidate will be required to raise $1,000 towards their return flight to Alice Springs, NT, from their home town, with all other costs for the week long trip being covered by Red Dust Role Models.

Application details are as per the Pierre de Coubertin Award guidelines. For further details please visit www.reddust.org.au or contact Stephanie.Moorhouse@olympics.com.au
