Division 5: Rained out

Weekly Wrap

Fortunate to be playing at all given the heavy rainfall leading up to Saturday, the Saints Division 2 and 4 fixtures were relocated to Camden as Pioneers Park was too water-logged to host any matches.

Camden, who has teams in identical divisions to those of the Saints, proved a formidable opponent with their strong structural play and ability to capitalise on loose ball around the ruck.

Playing in wet conditions, the Saints showed great endeavor but too often lacked the finesse required to be competitive in the higher grades.

Thankfully both teams pulled through with relatively few injury concerns, which is fortunate given the very wet conditions.

The squad will return to the training paddock this week in an effort to be 'harder at the ball', a quality new coach Mark Dragicevic is keen to instill throughout all three teams.

Footy Trip

Robbo has posed the question, “where will the Saints antics of 2015 be taking place?”

There is currently a strong showing of support behind the likes of Byron Bay, ahead of alternative options, Airlie Beach and Newcastle. The final decision is due to be made very soon as deposits for flights and accommodation will be collected.

The weekend of tyranny is scheduled for 2-5 October.

*Married players - it is highly recommended you start getting in her good graces now to ensure your attendance.

Footy Tipping

The dark horse, James ‘Swerlo’ Swerling doesn’t only take care of the club coffers but he’s also lining his own on the back of a solid footy tipping performance.

Swerlo picked eight games right and takes home a purse of $43.
