Greta boys do as they are told

IF Rob Richards wanted his charges to live up to the reputation they have earned in the off-season, they did everything asked of them on Saturday afternoon.

The new Greta coach would obviously be pleased with the side's massive victory over Bright at the Bright oval, which saw spear-head Alan Millard back to his best.

Both teams recruited well over the summer, but it was Greta, which spoke to several high-profile players during the pre-season, which attracted the most attention.

And the Blues proved that they will again be a force in Ovens and King circles as they belted the home team to the tune of 129 points.

Greta started well, kicking six goals and holding the Mountain Men to two to go into the first change with a healthy lead.

Millard was an integral part of the Blues' forward line, booting 10 goals for the day in a superb performance.

Things did not get much better for the home side in the second term. They were able to kick just one goal for the quarter, while Greta helped itself to another six.

The Mountain Men attempted a comeback in the third quarter, but the Blues continually held them back and made scoring almost impossible.

Kane McCormack was one of Bright's best players, along with P O'Shea, E Parente and S Selwood. Other good players for the winners were Ashley McIntosh, Barrie Sullivan, Paul White and Peter Mulrooney.

Final score: Greta 27.14 (176) defeated Bright 10.2 (62).

Greta's test

THE real test for the new-look Greta combination will come tomorrow when it takes on Moyhu at the Moyhu oval.

The Blues looked a well-oiled unit against Bright last week and were obviously reaping the rewards of a successful pre-season.

New coach Rob Richards has the Blues in fine form and should be able to keep them in that top spot for some time yet.

It will not be easy, however.

The Hoppers will be very keen to bounce back from their defeat at the hands of North Wangaratta in the opening round and may well have the Blues' measure on this occasion.

Although it has suffered a few big losses including Mick and Anthony Nolan and Brett Pateman, Moyhu is still a strong side.

It will simply need to make sure that any good work early in the game is carried through to the final stages to guarantee success; this did not happen last week.

If the Hoppers can get away early and snare the four points from this match, they have the chance to move up from their position at number eight on the ladder.

They should grasp this opportunity with both hands.

Recruit Darren Gephart, a former Wangaratta player who has returned to the area from Kalgoorlie, Mark Annet and Gerard Nolan will be key players for the home team and may cause some headaches for the Blues.

The visitors are not without their stars, however, with spearhead Alan Millard, Barrie Sullivan and Ashley McIntosh already showing they will be leading players for the side.

Greta will do its best to topple the Hoppers, but they should come away with the points to get their first win on the board.

Blues pass test at Moyhu

GRETA passed the acid test on Saturday when it downed rival Moyhu by 100 points.

The Blues have stamped their name firmly on the competition after two straight wins and at this stage look quite capable of being in the finals action later this year.

Saturday's win came far too easily to the visitors, who shot out of the blocks with an 11 goal first quarter on their way to the highest score of the round.

Moyhu, which was looking to bounce back from last week's loss to North Wangaratta, was rather disappointing against the new-look Blues.

It was Greta's two-pronged attack of Alan Millard (who booted seven goals) and Andrew McIntosh (5) which helped the team to its win.

The pair had good support from Peter Mulrooney (4) and Paul White (3).

Wingmen Paul Hogan and Damien Flanigan had a big influence, as did centre half back Brett Keir.

Greta's all-round strength saw the team kick seven goals in the second term, six in the third and seven in the last to run right over the top of Moyhu.

The Hoppers, who finished with 14 goals to Greta's 31, were best-served by Dave Sampson on the half forward line, full back Mark Gephart and Brad Greenshields on a wing.

Sampson was Moyhu's major goalkicker with four to his name.

Final score: Greta 31.15 (201) defeated Moyhu 14.17 (101).

Match of the round

MOST Ovens and King followers will be interested in the clash at the Greta oval tomorrow, when the home team takes on reigning premier Chiltern.

Both teams come into the match after registering hefty wins last week against Moyhu and Bright respectively, and are sure to produce a tight game of top standard football.

Chiltern would do well to approach the game with trepidation, as the Blues have been looking very good under new coach Robbie Richards and would love nothing more than to notch a convincing win over the Swans.

A win to Greta would also signal trouble for Chiltern, which, despite its big win last week, needs to regain some form against a top side.

Tomorrow may be its opportunity to do so, but Greta will be fighting tooth and nail to make sure it is not.

However, the Blues will need all of their players firing tomorrow in order to obtain the four points.

Alan Millard and Andrew McIntosh were instrumental in Greta's win last week, booting 12 goals between them, and should bag plenty more this week.

They will have their work cut out against the miserly Chiltern defence, but should still break through to kick a winning score.

Key players for Chiltern will be youngster Matt Hay, Shane Hall and Ralph Aalbers, who will do their best to help the Swans to their second win of the year.

This should be a close match, but we tip Greta to continue its winning run and retain its hold on the top spot.

Richards' Blues look good

HOW far Greta? That is the question which is being bandied about in Ovens and King circles following the Blues' four goal victory over reigning premier Chiltern on Saturday.

Rob Richards' boys are sitting pretty at the moment and look set to take on all comers in their attempt to win through to the 1995 finals series after narrowly missing out last year.

After an ordinary first quarter which saw them kick three goals to Chiltern's six, the Blues decided to fight back, and they did just that - with a vengeance.

By half time the host side had moved to a 13 point lead over the Swans, who kicked just one goal from their three scoring shots in the second term.

Alan Millard was again the key man in front of goal for Greta and he finished the day with seven majors.

The full forward's efforts were supported by those of his off-sider, Andrew McIntosh, who booted two goals for the day.

Greta expanded the lead to 32 points by three quarter time, holding Chiltern to two goals for the quarter, and prepared to finish the job in the final term.

The Swans tried desperately to get back into the game, kicking four goals, but were overcome by the determined Blues, who notched a 25 point win.

Chiltern coach Ralph Aalbers was his side's best player and leading goalkicker, finishing with three, with ruck rover Matt Hay and half forward flanker David Stephenson continuing their consistent seasons.

Other good players for Greta were wingman Paul Hogan and Mark Kilner.

Final score: Greta 16.18 (114) defeated Chiltern 13.11 (89).

Blues side set to remain unbeaten

GRETA should retain its unbeaten record when it plays host to Rutherglen-Corowa tomorrow.

The Blues' season is progressing quite nicely with three wins from three outings, and coach Rob Richards would no doubt be very pleased with the situation he finds himself in.

He has almost a full squad to choose from, with only a couple of niggling injuries getting in the way.

They will not prevent the side from performing, however, as depth is one of the major things Greta has working in its favor this season.

Richards' worst nightmare at the moment would be an injury to gun forward Alan Millard, who has impressed all and sundry by booting a total of 24 goals so far and looks set to continue his exceptional form.

He will be relied upon to add to his tally tomorrow and should not disappoint on his home turf.

Rutherglen-Corowa has registered only one win for the year, but has had a rather tough draw, coming up against North Wangaratta and Moyhu in the last two matches.

It will not get any less tough tomorrow when they tackle one of the competition's leading teams.

Make no mistake, the Blues should take the points, but the combine will not make it easy on them.

The Cats have failed by very narrow margins in their last two games and will be very eager to get another win on the board.

They will look to players like Russell Robbins, Rod Milthorpe, Greg Eales and Darren Hatten to keep their hopes alive, but the Blues should be too strong in another close one.

Blues' record remains spotless after round four

GRETA remains unbeaten after four rounds of Ovens and King competition after defeating Rutherglen-Corowa at Greta on Saturday.

The Blues held off a third quarter onslaught from the visiting combine to stay in front all day and eventually run out 35 point victors.

The game started evenly enough, with Greta managing only two goals in the first term.

Inaccurate kicking prevented Rutherglen-Corowa from holding the lead at quarter time; the Cats kicked just three points for the quarter to go into the first break 10 points down.

They failed to get on top of the marauding Greta side in the second term, as the Blues kicked seven goals to Rutherglen-Corowa's one and moved on to a 46 point lead at half time.

An ordinary third quarter from Greta allowed the Cats to sneak back into the contest. They outscored the home team six goals to one in a great display of teamwork, but were unable to go on with the job in the final term.

Again, it was the inaccuracy of the Cats which saw them waste four goalkicking attempts and allow Greta to kick three more majors in the last quarter to ensure victory.

The margin would have been greater had the Blues not booted five behinds in the final stanza.

Greta was well served by youngster Mark Kilner in the centre, Barrie Sullivan on a half forward flank and centre half back Brett Keir, with Peter Evans in the back pocket also producing a solid performance.

Best players for Rutherglen-Corowa were Darren Cooper, Wayne Schultz and Matt Coventry.

Final score: Greta 13.11 (89) defeated Rutherglen-Corowa 7.12 (54).

Little danger for Blues at Tarra

GRETA travels to the Tarrawingee Recreation Reserve this week in an outing which should do little damage to its unbeaten status.

The Blues have done no wrong so far this season, having notched four wins from four games, and will no doubt make it five in a row tomorrow.

All is going well at the moment for Rob Richards' charges as they attempt to win through to the finals and make up for last year's narrow miss.

Should Beechworth suffer defeat at the hands of North Wangaratta in this week's round, Greta could quite easily regain the top spot after losing it to the Bombers after round three.

One feels these two sides will be jockeying for the number one position for the remainder of the season, unless the wheels fall off rather suddenly.

But there is little danger of that happening to the Blues tomorrow.

Tarrawingee, sitting at number 10 with one win to its name, will not pose much of a problem for Greta.

The Bulldogs have been on the receiving end of losses to Chiltern, Bright and Beechworth in the last three weeks and there is nothing on paper to prove that they will be able to challenge the determined Blues.

If Mick Bedendo and Mal Dinsdale can continue their goalkicking form from last week and perhaps improve it, the Dogs will go some way towards a win. Neil Barassi, Chris Thompson, Geoff Lloyd and Matt Gorman will also need to be at peak form.

But with class players such as Richards, Brett Keir, Alan Millard, Mark Kilner and Barrie Sullivan in their ranks, the Blues should have already chalked up a win from this one.

Bulldogs lap up taste of victory

It was anything but a dog day afternoon at the Tarrawingee Recreation Reserve on Saturday as Brett Scott's charges defeated in-form Greta in the upset of the Ovens and King Football League's fifth round.

The Bulldogs were very convincing in dishing out a 27 point hiding to the Blues as they recorded only their second win for the year.

Tarrawingee moved from 10th to 8th position on the table after the match, which saw the team produce possibly its best performance so far.

After going into the game as the definite underdogs, Tarrawingee proved all of its critics wrong by staying in touch with Greta for the entire match and then limiting their opponents in the final quarter as they went in for the kill.

There were only nine points in it at the first change, with Greta holding the upper hand.

The Blues stepped up the pace somewhat in the second term of the encounter in an attempt to break away from the Bulldogs.

They outscored the home team five goals to three in that quarter and moved to a 19 point advantage at the long break, allowing themselves a little more room to breathe.

But Tarrawingee was not giving up that easily and came back fighting in the third term, booting another six goals to be just four points in arrears at three quarter time.

Greta tried desperately to get back into the game in the last quarter, but could manage only two goals to Tarrawingee's seven and surrendered the four points to the Bulldogs.

Full forward Alan Millard was back to his best for the Blues, kicking eight for the day, while Damien Flanigan on a wing and Tim Northey were also consistent contributors.

For the winners, backmen Craig Pedretti, Peter Larkin and Neil Barassi formed a wall against the Greta attack, while Jason Bould at full forward performed well.

Final score: Tarrawingee 20.12 (132) defeated Greta 15.15 (105).

Mills milestone to spur Blues

GRETA veteran Vin Mills will play his 200th senior game for the Blues tomorrow, and his teammates should help make it a very happy day for him.

Mills, a former Ovens and King representative, has been with the club for 16 years, having taken a 12 month break to play with Tatong in 1992.

The big occasion should spur him on this week and he will no doubt turn in a solid performance for his beloved Blues against Milawa.

Greta is coming off a shock loss to Tarra and will be very eager to erase the thought of that defeat.

Make no mistake, the Blues should be able to grab the points and retain their position at number two, but there may not be much percentage in it for them.

The Demons may have won only one match so far, but they have been looking better as the weeks progress and will most probably push the home side.

With players like John Chay and Brendan Lowry coming into their own in recent weeks, Milawa is seemingly on the verge of something big.

Former coach Brendan Allan has also been in good form in front of goal, notching several majors in the opening rounds, and should be up there again.

However, in Mills' milestone game, the Blues will pull out something a little extra and should win.

Important players for Greta will be Damien Flanigan, Alan Millard, who racked up another eight goals last week, Paul White and Mark Kilner.

Blues back on top

GRETA has regained its spot at the head of the Ovens and King ladder, courtesy of a win against Milawa and Beechworth's loss to Moyhu.

Saturday's victory at the Greta oval could not have come easier for the Blues; they were on top all day and limited the Demons' scoring shots to make Vin Mills' 200 game milestone just that bit sweeter.

The first term saw the home team come out firing.

They booted four goals from six scoring shots, while Milawa could manage only a solitary major.

Although the Demons picked up a little in the second term, kicking another four goals, they failed to stop their opponents from reaching their own forward line and the Blues grafted a further eight goals to their score.

They added insult to injury by emerging even stronger in the next two quarters to send the Demons packing after suffering an 80 point loss.

Alan Millard was again in good form on the Greta forward line, booting five goals for the day, while Peter Mulrooney kicked five of his own and Paul Hogan chipped in with four.

Wingman Hogan was the Blues' best on ground in what has been a consistent season for him, and Mulrooney also did well out of a forward pocket.

Youngster Chris Rhodes, who has graduated from the reserves into the seniors this year, continues to improve and was impressive in his roving role, as was veteran Brett Keir at centre half forward.

Centreman Mark Allan gave the Demons plenty of firepower, with Greg Simmonds and Paul Hourigan solid on their wings, and Kevin Allan did plenty from the half back flank.

Final score: Greta 19.17 (131) defeated Milawa 8.3 (51).

Blues look too strong

GLENROWAN plays host to in-form Greta tomorrow and looks set to suffer another loss.

The Tigers, who come into the match after going down to Tarrawingee last week, may push the visiting Blues, but the top side should be too strong.

Greta is travelling very well at the moment, having dropped just one of its six games, but it is certainly not unbeatable.

This was proved just two weeks ago when Rob Richards' boys were toppled by Tarrawingee.

However, having moved back to number one and with Beechworth breathing down its neck, Greta will be eager not to let the same thing happen tomorrow.

Despite the prediction of wet weather, which was a major cause of the loss to Tarra, Greta should take the points.

Glenrowan big man Damien Brenia in action for the Tigers last week against Tarrawingee.

With Allan Millard in great form at the moment, Greta would be banking on a bag of goals from the gun full forward, who will be flanked by Paul Mulrooney and youngster Chris Rhodes in tomorrow's game.

Glenrowan will look to players like Steve McNamara, Matt Grunow and Damien Brenia for strength on its forward line.

These players have performed well in recent weeks and should come through again tomorrow.

However, they will have to counter backmen such as Ashley McIntosh and Vin Mills.

Glenrowan will try its hardest against the Blues and it would not surprise to see another upset this week, but we will tip Greta to stay on the winners' list with a good win over the Tigers.

"It's basically the same, just darker."

Greta just too strong for Tigers

GRETA was far too strong for Glenrowan on Saturday, recording a huge win over their hosts at the Glenrowan oval.

The scene was set in the opening quarter, when both sides had three scoring shots each.

While Greta used its opportunities wisely and kicked three goals, Glenrowan managed only three behinds for the term.

It was always going to be a struggle for the Tigers to match the league's top side, but they would no doubt have expected to give the Blues a bit of a run for their money.

As it was, however, they did not kick their first goal until the second quarter, and in fact that was their only score for the term.

Things did not improve much for the home team after half time, with Greta banging on another three goals to Glenrowan's two behinds.

The Tigers' second goal came in the final quarter, but by then it was a matter of going through the motions.

Greta added a further three goals to make its presence well and truly felt.

In the slippery conditions, Greta would have been happy with its 58 point win.

Peter Mulrooney, Marc Kilner, Barrie Sullivan and Ashley McIntosh were all in good form for the winners.

Glenrowan had good players in Brian Peterson, Ian Lee, Tony Gleeson and Ben Foley.

Final score: Greta 11.10 (76) defeated Glenrowan 2.6 (18).

1995 - O&K Rep Team

Millard out, Grunow in for O&K

IN-FORM Glenrowan forward Matt Grunow will replace Alan Millard in the Ovens and King league's representative team to play Tallangatta on June 10.

Greta goal machine Millard has announced that he is unavailable for the encounter, but O&K coach Peter Hines says he is pleased with the replacement.

"Grunow's been in great form and should be a great asset to us in the game," he said.

There are also injury clouds over Glenrowan coach Shane Lockyer and Chiltern mentor Ralph Aalbers.

However, no further changes to the side have been made to the existing team.

Blues too classy for Roos at home

GRETA returns to its home turf tomorrow and will have too much class for the visiting King Valley side.

The Blues and the Roos are about as different as chalk and cheese in this Ovens and King season and this game is shaping as something of a mismatch.

Greta is currently sitting comfortably at the head of the table, leading its nearest competitors on percentage, and looks set to continue its great run of form.

Rob Richards and the Greta officials have recruited well this year, bringing several key players into the line-up which just missed out on the five in 1994.

Players such as Brett Keir and Barry Sullivan have proven invaluable to the Blues and should again be among the side's best players tomorrow.

Marc Kilner, Paul Hogan, Allan Millard and Ashley

McIntosh are also playing well and should see Greta through to its seventh win of the year.

King Valley, on the other hand, has registered just one win from seven rounds and is sitting in 11th place on the ladder, so the odds will be firmly stacked against them tomorrow.

The Valley was disappointing against Milawa last Saturday, kicking just two goals for the day, and obviously needs a focal point up forward if it is to succeed again.

Ian Gambold, an integral part of the King Valley combination, will need to be on fire this week.

He needs support from Greg Newbold, Gary Bussell and Steve Leitch and will probably get it, but Greta will be too strong.

Blues prove too strong for fighting Kangaroos

A DAY of big wins continued at the Greta oval, where the home side recorded a 177 point victory over a fighting King Valley combination.

Like last week at Milawa, the Valley boys managed just two goals for the game, with Ian Gambold and Gary Bussell booting one each.

The result further heightened the belief that no Darren Smith means no King Valley.

The Roos will no doubt be keen to see the big man back at work as soon as possible, particularly as they have now slipped to the bottom of the ladder and face some tough matches in the weeks ahead.

They fought hard without him on Saturday against a Greta side eager to continue its success, but could not prevent the Blues' win.

Rob Richards' charges had a variety of options up forward and used them all to good effect, with full forward Vin Mills (9), centre half forward Anthony Brady (6), wingman

Paul Hogan (5) and Barrie Sullivan (5) all among the goals.

The Blues started the day with a nine goal term and held the Valley to seven points in the first quarter.

Little changed for the remainder of the day, with Greta adding six goals in the second term, eight in the third and seven in the last to record a win which has cemented its place at the top of the ladder.

Forward flanker Andrew McIntosh, centre half back Brett Keir and ruckman Andrew Smith were good contributors for the Blues.

For the Valley, Glen Leitch did well in the centre, youngster Evan Lavery continued his form on a half back flank and Greg Newbold was prominent in his ruck roving role.

King Valley will be looking forward to next week's break for interleague competition before tackling Beechworth in round nine.

Final score: Greta 30.17 (197) defeated King Valley 2.8 (20).

1995 – O&K Tribunal News

Tribunal hands down four senior sentences

FOUR senior Ovens and King Football League players were found guilty by the league's tribunal on Monday evening.

Charges against Tarrawingee's Mal Dinsdale, Greta pair James Corker and Mick Patford and Jack Semmens from Milawa were upheld, while North Wangaratta reserves player Paul Hughes was acquitted.

Dinsdale will miss the Bulldogs' encounter with Moyhu after receiving a one week suspension for striking North Wangaratta's David Ryan in the third quarter of Saturday's match at the Tarrawingee Reserve.

Corker, who was booked two weeks ago for unduly rough play in Greta's match against Milawa, will be unavailable for the clash with Whorouly.

His teammate, Patford, received a two week suspended sentence for striking King Valley's Brendan Essex in the last quarter of the round eight match at Greta on Saturday.

Semmens is out for one week after being found guilty of unduly rough play in round six against Greta.

Few changes to O&K interleague side

LEIGH Miller and Jeremy Vereshaka have been brought into the Ovens and King Football League's representative side to play Tallangatta in Saturday's match at the Tarrawingee Reserve.

Glenrowan coach Shane Lockyer, originally named on a half forward flank, will not take his place in the team. Beechworth's David Wegener will come off the bench to replace Lockyer.

Wegener's place on the bench has been taken by Leigh Miller from North Wangaratta, who has performed well for the Hawks so far this season.

In-form Beechworth forward Jeremy Vereshaka will step into the centre half forward position in place of injured Tarrawingee player Craig Pedretti.

O&K player profiles

ANDREW BALFOUR (Moyhu): Becoming a consistent performer for Moyhu since coach Bob Comensoli switched him to the backline.

ANTHONY CONSTABLE (North Wangaratta): A valuable recruit for North since his stint with the Wangaratta Rovers reserves.

PETER LARKIN (Tarrawingee): Has played well on the backline for Tarrawingee since joining the Bulldogs from Mulwala.

DAVID STEPHENSON (Chiltern): An experienced campaigner at this level, he will provide drive off a half back flank.

BARRY HENDERSON (Whorouly): A strong puncher of the ball who will direct traffic across the half back line.

SCOTT DOUGLAS (Moyhu): Has played at this level on numerous occasions, provides plenty of run from deep in defence.

PAUL HOGAN (Greta): His pace and goalkicking ability will give the team a lift from his wing. A former Wangaratta Rovers premiership player.

RALPH AALBERS (Chiltern): The 300 game veteran with Lavington and 1994 O&K premiership coach will captain the side. Has obvious poise in the centre.

DAMIEN FLANIGAN (Greta): Reliable, young for this level, but will excite in his area of the ground with his marking and running ability.

DAVID WEGENER (Beechworth): A tough, durable player who gives drive off the half forward flank.

JEREMY VERESHAKA (Beechworth): Not chosen in the original side, but his form has been good and should help the O&K's chances. Judged by many as the best mark in the league.

TROY COMENSOLI (Moyhu): Will provide marking power, his pace and skills should result in several goals for the side.

GERARD NOLAN (Moyhu): A luxury in the forward pocket position, offers a strong pair of hands in goalkicking range.

MATT GRUNOW (Glenrowan): Has performed well each week with the Tigers and will appreciate the skill at this level. Will be the main focal point on the forward line.

RUSSELL BORSCHMANN (Beechworth): Tough, reliable onbailer who uses the ball well in many positions around the ground.

TIM WICKS (North Wangaratta): Enjoying his second year in O&K ranks, has been the standout ruckman in the league so far and will give the onballers first use.

MARC KILNER (Greta): After undergoing knee surgery last season, has worked well on his fitness and has been rewarded with a place in the interleague side.

RUSSELL WARNER (Beechworth): Classy rover, gets a lot of the ball and frequently finds teammates in good positions.

BRETT KEIR (Greta): Is an automatic choice in the team with his vast knowledge and ability at higher levels.

LEIGH MILLER (North Wangaratta): Exciting prospect, likes to mark the ball and run on. Very hard to stop on his day.

MATT LANCASTER (Chiltern): The young Swan ruckman is learning very quickly. He has plenty of leap and energy and will provide good support for Wicks.

DARREN DONDIO (Whorouly): Very versatile player, will be handy to play at either end of the ground as the game wears on.

1995 – O&K U/17's Rep Team

Bob's boys all set

BOB McWaters will coach the Ovens and King Football League's under 17 representative team in its encounter with Tallangatta and District tomorrow.

The Beechworth stalwart has a strong line-up of youngsters to work with, and they are expected to acquit themselves well against the visitors in the early game at the Tarrawingee Reserve. Captain of the side is Luke Brooks from Chiltern.

The O&K team will be selected from: M Boyd, B McNamara, G Pritchard, D Cooper, S Smythe, A Currie, C Pizzini, T Vincent, B Gephart, S Ryan, S Terrill, S O'Keeffe, S Leary, B Leary, S Milthorpe, P Peake, L Brooks, K Vincent, N Rebesco, S Murphy, E Laverty, P Cavicchiolo, J Clayton, B Kull, C Forrest, J Blair.

The Tallangatta squad is: S Ramage, J Baylis, S Mumberson, P Baker, D Tobin, S Bosse, A Sutherland, A Lowcock, D Bradley, S Reid, C Barton, C Wheeler, J White, A Chessari, M Stockfield, S Bowran, A Harmer, D Webb, M Hooper, K Barton, S Janetski, C Edwards.

Under 17s

TALLANGATTA led at each change to eventually record a 25 point victory over Ovens and King in the early match at the Tarrawingee Reserve.

The visitors managed to stay that little bit in front of O&K throughout the under 17 game, holding their lead until the final siren.

A strong first quarter saw them boot three goals to O&K's three behinds.

They were outscored by the host league in the second term, but this did little to halt Tallangatta, which scored a further two goals in the third quarter while holding O&K to one.

Finishing off its good work in the final term, Tallangatta added another three majors and emerged a four goal victor.

Final score:
Tallangatta 10.8 (68) defeated Ovens and King 6.7 (43).

Best - Tallangatta: S Bowran, A Sutherland, M Stockfield, S Mumberson, S Ramage, P Baker. Ovens and King: S Smythe, D Cooper, L Peake, S Leary, B McNamara, N Rebesco.

Ovens and King triumphs in return to interleague

KEY positional changes at half time and the poor kicking of their opponents helped Ovens and King record a narrow six point victory over the Tallangatta league at Tarrawingee Reserve on Saturday.

After being four points down at the first change and then seven points in arrears at the long break, O&K resolved to take the initiative in the second half and was rewarded for its efforts.

Matt Grunow, who had made only a minor impression in front of goal, was replaced by Beechworth's Jeremy Vereshaka, who had been in trouble at centre half forward against Tony Loorham.

The former Myrtleford player took to his new task with zest, booting two goals from four scoring shots in the third term.

In defence, Brett Keir moved to centre half back and Barrie Henderson was switched to full back, while the fresh legs of Leigh Miller and Matt Lancaster were introduced to help give the O&K an edge.

Thereafter, what began as a game marked by a low level of skill became a very interesting contest.

Peter Hines' changes did not come before time; in the first half, the visitors made position better, were first to the ball and looked more desperate than the host league on the muddy oval.

The locals were perhaps fortunate that Tallangatta waited so many opportunities along the way, and also that players of the calibre of Ralph Aalbers, Mark Kilner and Paul Hogan were on hand to help out.

Hogan in particular was superb all day, and especially in the last half; how many times did opponents watch exasperated as he dashed down his wing to deliver the ball into the O&K's forward line?

Aalbers' experience told in the heavy conditions. He never stopped running, picked up heaps of possessions and made full use of his opportunities.

Kilner was superb in the 'engine room', fishing the ball out to teammates, and his co-operation with Hogan was a feature of the game. He also relished the conditions and his toughness at the ball made him a vital player.

The O&K backline held up well when under pressure in the first half, with some stout defence from Henderson, Andrew Balfour and Anthony Constable.

Despite its strong performance in the third term, O&K could not completely shake Tallangatta and with just three points separating the two sides at three quarter time, the scene was set for a battle to the death.

A bunch of Tallangatta players scrambles in the mud as Beechworth's Russell Warner watches proceedings from behind the pack.

The mood was certainly tense in that final quarter, and Tallangatta struggled to come to terms with it, kicking nine points and only one goal.

They had their chances to get in front of O&K, but squandered them, and when some good work by Scott Douglas resulted in a goal to Gerard Nolan, the locals had clinched a deserved victory.

Tallangatta coach Des Richardson was content with his team's performance and singled out some of the young players, who he said would be better for the experience.

Simon Corr gave Tallangatta drive, John Teunon did lots of damage early, although curbed later by Troy Comensoli, and robust Ashley Phillips was a strong defender.

Tallangatta midfielder Dale Hamilton finished with plenty of possessions, although he was taken apart by Hogan in the last half of the match.

Forward flanker Lindsay Croucher booted two early goals and gave David Stephenson something to think about.

Tony Loorham came under notice on several occasions, while Tallangatta's big men, Darrell Butler and Travis Tyrler, worked hard all day in the ruck.

Peter Hines would no doubt have been pleased with O&K's performance in its first interleague match for four years, a fitting return for the local league.

Final score: Ovens and King 7.14 (56) defeated Tallangatta and District 5.20 (50).

Blues to move further ahead

GRETA should move even further ahead in the race to the finals by defeating Whorouly tomorrow.

The Blues, who have dropped only one game so far, are sailing along beautifully and show absolutely no sign of slowing down.

With players like Marc Kilner and Paul Hogan in their ranks, it is little wonder. The pair were invaluable to O&K in its clash with the Tallangatta league last week and should be ready to go again this weekend.

Hogan, who is currently second on the leaderboard for the Chronicle-Jetset Travel Player of the Year Award, has blown away many of his opponents this season with his superb fitness and enthusiasm.

Fellow wingman Damien Flanigan was also impressive in the interleague match and, in combination with Hogan, will pose real problems for the Lions.

Darren Dondio's Whorouly side has not enjoyed the best of seasons this year, having lost all but one of its matches, but it has finally moved off the bottom of the ladder and is showing a little more fight.

Dondio kicked three goals in the Lions' last outing and he and his cohorts will need to be in similar form if they are to get anywhere near the Blues, who will rely on backmen like Brett Keir to repel any forward movements.

Meanwhile, Greta has Alan Millard filling the full forward position and Peter Mulrooney, Ashley McIntosh and Barrie Sullivan all doing well around the goals.

Players like Tim McDonnell, Todd Amery, Mark Taylor and Barry Henderson will do their best to help the Lions to their second win of the year, but Greta should be too good.

THIRDS: Greta 10.13 (73) defeated Whorouly 0.7 (7).

Lions come back to earth

AFTER celebrating its first win in the last round, Whorouly came crashing back to earth when it was defeated by 120 points by Greta.

The Blues were always in control and never looked to be in danger of losing the match as they powered away from the lowly Lions.

Led by veteran Brett Keir, Greta showed why it is considered the hot favorite for the 1995 O&K flag with a professional display at the Whorouly oval.

A six goal first quarter did nothing to harm the Blues' reputation, and neither did the fact that they kept Whorouly to just one point for the term.

From then on it was just more of the same as Greta piled on the goals and Whorouly struggled to score.

By half time the margin was 77 points, and then 95 points at three quarter time.

The Lions kicked three goals in the final term, but by then it was far too late, and Greta notched its eighth win of the season.

Marc Kilner showed more of his interleague form as he helped the Blues to victory, with Ashley McIntosh (five goals) and Paul Hogan also important in the win.

Whorouly looked to Paul Hardy, Barry Henderson and Todd Amery for strength, with coach Darren Dondio also doing his part.

Final score: Greta 24.14 (158) defeated Whorouly 5.8 (38).

Blockbuster

TOMORROW'S blockbuster Ovens and King match at Greta offers plenty for local football fans.

The Blues are set to take on Beechworth in the game of the round, which should give some indication of how the teams will fare come finals time.

Spectators can expect a battle to the death as both sides attempt to assert their influence on the match.

Top side Greta has blown the opposition away so far this season, having won all but one of its games. Beechworth is just a step behind, however, and would like nothing better than to knock off its keenest rival.

Percentage is all that separates the two sides, and neither of them will gain much ground in that area this week in what should be a close encounter.

Both teams are coming off big wins, Greta over Whorouly and Beechworth against King Valley, and will be eager to continue their respective winning runs.

Beechworth will need gun forward Jeremy Vereshaka and his offsiders to fire tomorrow, as Greta is strong in front of goal and will have players like Ashley McIntosh, Barrie Sullivan and Vin Mills keyed up for a big game.

The Blues also have Paul Hogan, Chris Rhodes, Brett Keir and Marc Kilner in good form at the moment and they should acquit themselves well.

The Bombers will look to players of the calibre of David Wegener, Brad Holt, Anthony Mihaljevic and Russell Warner to lead them to victory.

It is indeed shaping as one of the closest matches seen in Ovens and King circles this season, but we will tip Greta to take the points.

The game will probably not alter ladder positions too much, but will certainly give the winner a considerable psychological advantage.

O&K Blues jump ahead

GRETA jumped ahead in the race to the 1995 Ovens and King premiership when it defeated its nearest rival, Beechworth, by 13 points at the Greta oval.

It was always going to be a hard-fought encounter, with both sides eager to assert their authority and gain a psychological advantage over the other leading into the second round of the season.

Spectators were certainly not disappointed as the two combatants did their best to maintain the upper hand.

The lead switched several times and little separated the teams at each interval.

Indeed, there were just five points in it at the first break, after an opening term which lived up to all expectations.

Both sides had seven scoring shots apiece in the first quarter, and both managed a fairly good return, with Beechworth holding the lead at quarter time.

Nothing changed in the second quarter, apart from the fact that Greta grabbed the lead.

By three quarter time Beechworth was back in front, and although performing well, looked to be far from in control against the eager Blues, who were just one goal in arrears.

Greta scored five goals to two in the final quarter to steal the points from its worthy opponent in what may very well have been a grand final preview.

The winners were best served by Brett Keir, still holding down centre half back with aplomb, ruck rover Mark Kilner, Mick Patford in a back pocket and Barry Sullivan on a forward flank.

Beechworth had good players in Russell Warner, Brett Bouker, who booted four of the side's 12 goals, and Robbie Zane.

Final score: Greta 14.13 (97) defeated Beechworth 12.12 (84).

Saga continues at North Wangaratta

SEASON '95 could not have progressed more successfully for the Ovens and King league had Vin Shelley, Fred Baker and their cohorts sat down and scripted it at the beginning of the year.

Competition has been keen and close; the reigning premier's dominance has been thwarted; the contest for the top spot has not yet abated; there are no undefeated teams; and five sides are sitting on equal points and competing for the fifth position on the ladder.

Add to this a pleasing interleague campaign, the emergence of several young stars, and the consistent efforts of some of the league's veterans, and you have a thriving district football league.

Tomorrow the saga continues in what is shaping as a tight round which should be highlighted by the match at North Wangaratta Reserve.

The Hawks, coming off a big win against Whorouly, will invite ladder leader Greta into their nest this week and have the chance to assume control of first position if they win.

Last year's runners-up are definitely keen, and certainly well-placed, to be only the second side to expose Greta's Achilles heel.

Coach Peter Hines has assembled a strong line-up in an effort to go one step further this season, and the Hawks' hopes will be buoyed considerably if they do take the points tomorrow.

But they should not discount the might of the skilful Blues for a second.

The visitors have had only one hiccup in their season so far, a loss to Tarrawingee in round five, and have seen to it that there has not been a repeat performance.

Last week's good win over then second-placed Beechworth, which has now slipped to third, will have done wonders for Greta's confidence and should see them through what is sure to be a tough battle at North Wangaratta.

With names such as Keir, Kilner, Hogan, Sullivan and Flanigan up against the likes of McLeod, Miller, Ryan, Heinrich and Pane, there is no doubting that this will be a classic encounter.

North will push the leaders all the way and victory is certainly not an unthinkable possibility for the Hawks, but Greta should hold firm and return home successful.

Greta increases its number one status

GRETA sent North Wangaratta back to third place on the O&K ladder by inflicting a 22 point defeat on the Hawks on their home turf.

The Blues have firmed as premiership favorites after last week's good win over Beechworth and success in what looked to be a danger game for the visitors on Saturday.

Still atop the ladder, they are now a game clear of Beechworth and North and look primed for a clear run through to the finals.

However, it was certainly not an easy match for the Blues at the North Wangaratta Reserve.

They were forced to fight all the way as North launched attack after attack in an attempt to hold sway against the league leaders.

The Hawks took an early lead in the match when they outscored Greta four goals to two in the first quarter. But for the eight behinds they kicked in that term they might have been further ahead.

Greta tried to level things up in the second term, kicking three goals, but was still trailing the home team at the long break, if only by eight points.

The Blues signalled their intentions in the third quarter when they put six majors through the sticks and grabbed a 19 point advantage.

Both sides kicked three goals in the final term, but Greta held its lead and returned home with the important four points.

The winners were best served by ruck rover Marc Kilner, rover John Chay and Peter Mulrooney in a forward pocket.

North had good players in John Henderson in the centre, Neale McMonigle at full forward and ruckman Rod McLeod.

Final score: Greta 14.13 (97) defeated North Wangaratta 10.15 (75).

Lions on top in vital Ovens and King clash at Moyhu court

SEPARATED from Moyhu by minimal percentage on the Ovens and King A grade netball ladder, Whorouly's battle with the Hoppers on Saturday was always going to be a tough one.

The Lions had to go in hard and make the most of their opportunities and they did just that, eventually winning by 30 goals.

Shauna Lyons played an exceptional game at goal defence to be best account for Whorouly.

At the Milawa court, the home side took the honors over the visiting Tarrawingee combination to continue its good form.

Rutherglen-Corowa took the points over Glenrowan, shooting 42 goals to the Tigers' 25. Liz Tudden was the best player for the Cats, while Michelle Lepoidiven was a handy player for the Tigers.

It was a close encounter at the Whitfield Reserve, with King Valley, led by Belinda O'Connor, suffering a narrow two goal loss to Chiltern. Final score was Chiltern 29 to King Valley 27.

In B grade Whorouly (25) defeated Moyhu (22); Milawa defeated Tarrawingee; Rutherglen-Corowa (43) defeated Glenrowan (38); and Chiltern (33) defeated King Valley (17).

C grade competition saw

Whorouly (44) topple Moyhu (12); Tarrawingee was too good for Milawa; Rutherglen-Corowa (42) downed the young Glenrowan team (25); and King Valley (15) lost to Chiltern (30).

Millard machine back in action

ALAN Millard returns to Greta's line-up tomorrow and should help steer the Blues to their 11th victory of the season.

Millard set the pace for the league's goalkickers early in the season, booting 39 goals in his first six matches before injury sidelined him.

Now he's back and ready to return to his early season form in tomorrow's encounter with Bright at the Greta oval.

He has been named at full forward (where else would you put him?) and is flanked by consistent Peter Mulrooney and Tim Northey.

But it is not only in front of goal that the Blues excel. Coach Rob Richards has assembled what is a fierce-looking combination when in full swing and, with players like Paul Hogan, Damian Flanigan, Ashley McIntosh and John Chay working hard around the ground, the Blues will have little trouble disposing of the visitors.

Bright is sitting in ninth position after 11 rounds of play and could make a move up the ladder if it wins this match, but this seems highly unlikely.

The Mountain Men have only four wins on the board to date, against Whorouly, Rutherglen-Corowa, King Valley and Tarrawingee, while Greta is perched comfortably atop the ladder and looks set to stay there.

Bright will pin its hopes on players like Dave Kelly, Kane McCormack, Chad Kersting and Peter Ricardi, but should struggle against the Blues.

No stopping the Blues

ALAN Millard booted five goals in his return game to assist Greta in its 41 point win over Bright at the Greta oval.

With Millard back in their line-up and his teammates playing as well as ever, there looks to be no stopping the Blues, who are still comfortably atop the ladder.

They came out firing on their home turf on Saturday and kicked seven goals in the first term to shellshock the Mountain Men.

If not for the seven behinds they also booted in that term, Greta would have been further in front.

As it was, inaccurate kicking made little difference to the Blues as they held Bright to five points in the first term, then two goals in the second.

All the while they were creeping further and further in front until they held a commanding 58 point advantage at three quarter time.

A six goal burst in the final stanza came too late for the Mountain Men, who suffered their second loss to Greta this season, although they came a little closer this time than in their round one meeting.

Jim Corker in the centre, Anthony Brady at centre half forward and defender Nick Judd did well for the all-conquering Blues, with Damian Lord, full forward Peter Smith and forward pocket Peter Ricardi among Bright's best players.

Final score: Greta 17.16 (118) defeated Bright 11.11 (77).

Hoppers to push Blues at home

RIDING on a high after last week's unexpected victory over North Wangaratta, Moyhu meets up with ladder leader Greta tomorrow and should push the Blues.

The Hoppers were very impressive in their 34 point defeat of the third-placed Hawks last week and a win tomorrow would keep them in the running for a move up the ladder.

After a slow start (admittedly they faced some tough opposition in their first couple of games), Bob Comensoli's charges have knuckled down to become one of the most dangerous sides in the O&K competition.

They certainly have North Wangaratta watching its back, and Greta will probably not be too rapt to be facing such a tough proposition at this stage of the season.

With young players like Mark Annett, Mark Gephart and Dale McPhan in good form at the moment, the Hoppers are a real threat to some of the teams in the upper echelon, but it is difficult to see Greta dropping another game.

The Blues, a game ahead of Beechworth and with a much better percentage, have lost only one match this season, to Tarrawingee.

It is interesting to note that that loss occurred on a wet track, similar to what most teams will encounter tomorrow, but the Blues had several players out of their line-up on that occasion and were below their best.

That was certainly not the case when they last met Moyhu, however, as they accounted for the Hoppers by a cool 100 points.

Paul Hogan, Damian Flanigan and Brett Keir were the key men on that occasion and may be again, along with newly-retired full forward Alan Millard.

The margin will probably not be as great as it was in the first round, but we will tip Greta to take the points again.

Second big win for Greta

GRETA racked up its second big win over fourth-placed Moyhu on its home turf on Saturday in the 13th round of Ovens and King football.

The final margin in what was expected to be a close encounter was 133 points, with the Blues following up their 100 point victory over the Hoppers in round two of the O&K season.

Greta unleashed its customary first quarter onslaught, booting eight goals to Moyhu's three in the Hoppers' highest-scoring term.

From there it was simply a matter of how far the Blues as the range of stars in the Greta line-up worked together to increase their score further and further while severely limiting Moyhu's scoring power.

The Hoppers were al-

power.

The Hoppers were allowed just one goal in each of the last three quarters, while Greta kicked an average of seven goals per term to emerge a clear victor.

Alan Millard (6) and Rod Woodward (5) led the way in the scoring department, but the Blues had 10 different goalkickers during the day.

Woodward, young winger Damien Flanigan and rovers John Chay and Tim Northey were the major contributors for the winners.

Moyhu's best players were Darren Gephart, Wayne Johnson, Dale McPhan and full forward Scott Douglas. Ritchie Graham also did well in a back pocket.

The victory re-affirmed Greta's standing at number one, although that position has been in little doubt for quite some time.

Moyhu is still comfortably occupying fourth place, but needs some cohesion to ensure it is able to match it with the 'big three', Greta, Beechworth and North Wangaratta, come finals time.

Final score: Greta 28.13 (181) defeated Moyhu 6.12 (48).

Blues on track across board

GRETA came away with another three wins in Ovens and King netball competition on Saturday and looks to be right on track in all three grades.

Veterans Heather Evans and Jo Bear played well in the Blues' 57-21 A grade victory over Moyhu, with Sharon Tanner also doing well for the home side.

At Whitfield, Glenrowan suffered a 22 goal loss to King Valley, but had good players in Kim Saunders and Narelle Wind. The 'Roos were best served by Sharon Newbold.

Spectators witnessed a fine display of netball at Milawa, where third-placed Whorouly took on the home side in what was expected to be a tough match.

A brilliant start by the Lions gave them a five goal lead in the first term, and although Milawa attempted a comeback, the visitors managed to take the game by four goals. Final score was Whorouly 42 to Milawa 38.

Debbie Newton was Whorouly's main contributor.

Rutherglen-Corowa's A grade combination put in a great effort to enjoy a good win over North Wangaratta.

Chiltern proved too strong for Bright, notching an eight goal win.

In B grade, Chiltern (51) defeated Bright (28), Greta (50) defeated Moyhu (28), King Valley (55) defeated Glenrowan (15), Milawa (66) defeated Whorouly (18) and Rutherglen-Corowa lost to North Wangaratta.

C grade games saw North Wangaratta, Whorouly, Glenrowan, Greta and Bright as the victors.

Swans set to continue slump

CHILTERN should continue its 1995 slump by going down to Greta at the Chiltern oval tomorrow.

The Swans seem to be suffering from the same problem Greta was last season, a premiership hangover, and it is very likely that they will miss the finals after some rather poor performances.

Last Saturday's loss to Bright could be seen as the final nail in Chiltern's coffin.

A win in that match might have kept their hopes alive, but the reigning premiers are now two games behind their closest rival and face a tough run into the finals.

Swan coach Ralph Aalbers is probably scratching his head in frustration at the moment. What more can be done to help his side regain the devastating form which saw it go through the 1994 season undefeated?

Player losses have

Action from last week's Greta-Moyhu match. The Blues are favored to notch another victory tomorrow.

wreaked havoc in the Chiltern line-up and the team is desperately in need of some manpower, although Aalbers has been doing his best to hold the side together.

Matt Hay, Anthony Gillman, Matt Lancaster and Craig Peake all need to produce more of the form they have been showing lately in order to give Chiltern a look-in tomorrow.

But with most of his players at their peak, Greta coach Rob

Richards would probably not be too worried about this game. Damien Flanigan, Rod Woodward, John Chay and spearhead Alan Millard will carry the Blues to their 13th victory.

Ladder leaders inflict another loss

CHILTERN looks to have dropped right out of the running for the top five after suffering its third consecutive loss on Saturday.

The Swans put up a good fight in the first half of the match, but in the end they were no match for the strong-finishing Greta combination, which is still atop the O&K ladder.

Chiltern gave the Blues a scare in the opening term, banging on three goals before Greta had even managed to score.

By quarter time, Chiltern had had eight scoring shots to Greta's two and held a 15 point advantage.

A fairly even second term saw the Blues creep back into the game, kicking two goals to Chiltern's one, and the margin was just 10 points at half time, with the Swans still in front.

Greta hit its straps in the second half, producing two six goal quarters in the damp conditions and holding the Swans to a goal in the third term and two points in the last. The Blues eventually came away with a 59 point victory, further boosting their already robust percentage.

Key players for the Blues were ruck rover Marc Kilner, centre half back Brett Keir and winger Paul Hogan, with Anthony Gillman, David Stephenson and Matt Hay rated among Chiltern's best.

Final score: Greta 15.6 (96) defeated Chiltern 5.7 (37).

Chiltern's good run halted by eager Greta combination

AFTER enjoying a good run in recent weeks, Chiltern netballers were unable to stand their ground against the three visiting Greta teams on Saturday.

The A grade Swans suffered a 14 goal loss, the B grade team went down by 30 goals, and Greta's C grade combination was 24 goals too good for its opponents.

Best players for Greta were Jo Bear, Wendy Hogan (A grade), Ang White, Kellee Ackland (B grade) and Alison Rhodes (C grade).

At Glenrowan, the Tigers lost their A grade encounter 30-48 to Beechworth, but took the points in B grade (30-25) and C grade (32-18).

The home team was best served by Narelle Wind in the main game, Margaret Haring in B grade and Jackie Beeby and Kristen Holden in C grade.

Spectators at the Whorouly court took in a very tight match between the Lions and King Valley.

Whorouly led by eight goals at the beginning of the game, but the Valley girls came back fighting in the second half of the game.

The Lions were a goal up in the dying minutes, but King Valley's goal attack shot a goal on the siren to draw the game, 40 all.

Goal keeper Tricia Masin was best on court for the Lions.

In B grade, King Valley (44) defeated Whorouly (24) and the Lions evened things up in C grade, toppling the visitors 23-14.

Chris Whinray was the star performer in Milawa's A grade victory over North Wangaratta. Final score in the match at the North Wangaratta court was Milawa 60 to North Wangaratta 22.

The B grade Demons toppled the Hawks 51-16, with Di Baker named best on court for the winners, while C grade had a welcome 33-12 win.

Cats to win?

W H E T H E R Rutherglen-Corowa can slay another giant is one of the big talking points in Ovens and King circles this week.

The combine downed Moyhu in one of the big turn-ups of last week's round, and tomorrow they front up to Greta at the Rutherglen oval.

This will be a much tougher assignment than their meeting with the Hoppers; Greta has lost only one match this season and is right on line to pick up its second O&K flag in three years.

An all-star line-up including names like Marc Kilner, Brett Keir, Paul Hogan and John Chay has kept the Greta juggernaut running along quite smoothly this year.

If these players and their equally talented teammates can fire up again tomorrow, they should blow the home team away.

But Rutherglen-Corowa, currently ninth on the ladder, will certainly not be a walkover.

The Cats were 14 points too good for Moyhu last week. They should get close to the Blues, but the margin may not be that narrow.

Mark Burrridge, Ken Young, John Levesque and Mark Dowdle will keep the home side in the match, and if Rod Milthorpe can reproduce some of his goalkicking form from last week, they will be in with a chance on their home turf.

However, on paper the Blues look to have too much strength for the Cats and should take the points without too much trouble.

Combine's plans halted

AFTER convincingly downing Moyhu last week, Rutherglen-Corowa was given a real chance of taking the game up to Greta when the two sides met at the Rutherglen oval on Saturday.

However, things did not go quite according to plan for the home side, which suffered through another brilliant display by the flag favorites.

The Cats were defeated by a resounding 101 points, becoming Greta's 14th victim of the season.

The signs were there right from the beginning; the Blues handled the muddy conditions better than their hosts and managed to notch four goals from 10 scoring shots while keeping the Cats scoreless in the first term.

They were a little more accurate in front of goal in the second quarter, kicking four goals straight and again restricting the Cats' scoring power.

By half time the visitors were a cool 53 points in front and looked more than capable of finishing off their good work in the second half.

They did just that, booting four goals in the third term and three in the last to claim a massive victory over the combine.

Rutherglen-Corowa's most successful quarter was the third, in which it registered two points.

Although completely outclassed by the ladder leaders, the Cats nominated Jamie Williams, Tim Gibbs, Dave Cooper and Chris Honeybul as their best players.

Darren Hatton and Jim Levesque also did well.

The winners were best served by Bob Weiderman, Marc Kilner, Brett Keir, Paul Hogan and Andrew McIntosh.

Greta remains odds-on favorite for the 1995 flag.

Final score: Greta 15.15 (105) defeated Rutherglen-Corowa 0.4 (4).

Consistent Demons keep up good form against Moyhu

MILAWA recorded three good wins in Ovens and King netball competition on Saturday.

Taking on nearby Moyhu, the Demons won their A grade encounter 50-31, B grade 65-18 and C grade 52-12.

Best player for the winners in the main game was Kate Finnegan, with Leonie May (B grade) and Cathryn Hogarth (C grade) judged best court in their respective matches.

At Rutherglen, the home team suffered three losses to Greta.

Kim Eltringham (A grade), Pip Sellar (B grade) and Kristy Bowering (C grade) were the key players for the Cats against the O&K's netball powerhouse.

King Valley netballers had a mixed bag, with their A grade side downing North Wangaratta 39-34, the B graders losing 21-27 and the C grade youngsters taking the 'Roo's to a 31-22 victory.

Chiltern took a trip to Tarrawingee, where it enjoyed three wins over the Bulldogs.

The A grade Swans scraped in by a goal and the B grade combination was successful by just three in a couple of close encounters.

Whorouly was successful in A grade after a bad start, and also in C grade, but suffered a six goal loss to Beechworth in B grade.

Can Bulldogs repeat the dose?

TARRAWINGEE has the honor of being the only side to have defeated Greta this season.

Tomorrow the Bulldogs will be looking to collect another scalp from the ladder leaders when they travel to the Blues' hunting ground.

The round five encounter which resulted in Tarrawingee's most memorable victory of the year took place on the first wet day of the season at the Tarrawingee Recreation Reserve.

By all accounts, the day may not be too different tomorrow, news the Bulldogs will no doubt be relishing.

However, Greta is playing at its peak at the moment and will not surrender any more points in the run home.

With most sensible punters already backing the Blues for their second flag in three years, they will be eager to retain their current composure and keep up their great form.

Tarrawingee, desperately trying to get back into the five and facing the prospect of meeting the tough Glenrowan combination next weekend, will do its best to knock off the premiership favorites, but we cannot see it happening.

The Bulldogs will employ the services of key players like Craig Pedretti, Sam Nolan, Trevor Blair and Andrew Donald, who should perform well.

They will also need a few more Chris Long goals (the Bulldog spearhead already has 18 majors from four games) and would like Mal Dinsdale to lend plenty of support in attack.

But with a host of stars including Paul Hogan, Brett Keir, Marc Kilner and Damien Flanigan, the Blues should win.

Bulldogs slip-slidin' away at end of season

A MASSIVE 85 point loss to ladder leader Greta saw Tarrawingee slip from sixth to eighth place on the Ovens and King ladder.

The Bulldogs tried their hardest to stay in touch with the premiership favorites at the Greta oval, but simply could not stop them from advancing to their 15th victory of the year.

A very even first quarter saw both sides boot four goals from six scoring shots and scores were level on 26 points apiece at the first change.

The Blues began to take charge in the second quarter, however, as their line-up worked systematically to take the Bulldogs apart. By half time they had established a 19 point advantage, but Tarrawingee was still well in the race.

But any chance the Bulldogs thought they may have had was snuffed out in the third term as Greta added 11 goals to its tally, with forwards Peter Mulrooney and Allan Millard firing in front of the sticks.

Mulrooney finished with eight goals for the day and Millard five.

Tarrawingee could manage only 2.4 in the last quarter, while Greta booted another five goals and further cemented its place at the top.

Other good players for the Blues were Marc Kilner and Paul Hogan.

Tarrawingee was best served by Wayne Delarue at full back, ruckman Craig Pedretti and ruck rover Andrew Donald.

Final score: Greta 27.11 (173) defeated Tarrawingee 13.10 (88).

Milawa and Greta dominate in O&K

AN in-form Milawa recorded another three strong wins in round 17 of the Ovens and King netball competition.

Against a struggling Rutherglen side, the Demons won their A grade encounter 54-9, B grade 74-18 and C grade 69-7.

In the main game, Catherine Hogarth and Bailey White stood out, while Victoria Gehrig and Kim Hunt were best afield in B and C grades respectively.

The victories follow last week's hat-trick of wins over Moyhu and will be important as the finals approach.

Greta's three sides also recorded significant victories on Saturday. At home to Tarrawingee, the Blues won A grade 61-26, B grade 53-34 and C grade 26-14.

The experienced Janine Norman and rookie Michelle Wiedeman were best afield in the main game while Kellie Ackland and Sharon Wallace starred in B and C grades respectively.

In other matches, an unsettled Whorouly struggled against Bright, winning their A grade match but missing out narrowly in their B and C grade encounters. In the A grade match, Debbie Newton played an outstanding game in the centre for the Lions, while Monica Amery starred in the goals in their 31-34 defeat in B grade.

King Valley and Moyhu tied at 32-32 in their exciting A grade match, with Moyhu narrowly winning their B grade encounter and King Valley notching up a comfortable victory in C grade.

Next week will see the two in-form teams, Milawa and Greta, do battle as well as Whorouly v Chiltern, North Wangaratta v Bright, Glenrowan v Tarrawingee, Rutherglen/Corowa v King Valley and Moyhu v Beechworth.

Top-of-the-table Blues to continue dominance

GRETA'S undefeated run shows no signs of stopping this week, as the Blues prepare to travel to Milawa for their round 17 match.

Under Rob Richards' guidance, they have certainly been the dominant force in O&K football this season, having lost only one game to date.

Sitting on top, a game and a heap of percentage clear of its nearest rival with only two rounds to play, Greta must be considered the most likely of premiership contenders.

Richards has moulded his players into quite a fearsome outfit, which managed to completely out-class second-placed Beechworth in round 10 and should do the same against Milawa tomorrow.

Names like Hogan, Keir, Millard, Mulrooney and Kilner have given opposition sides plenty to worry about this season, and things will not be all that different in the remaining two rounds, or in the ensuing finals series.

Millard is currently leading the O&K goalkickers' list and would be expected to add a couple more majors to his personal tally tomorrow, as will Mulrooney, who booted eight last week.

Unlike that of their opponents, the Demons' form has been rather 'hot and cold' this season; they have won only six of their 16 matches, although they have done well against teams like Chiltern and Bright.

Occupying ninth position after 16 rounds, the Demons may find it difficult to ascend any further.

Although players such as Mick Graham, Mark Brown, Brett Revell and the Allan brothers will do their best to keep Milawa in the game, Greta should win convincingly.

One way traffic for Blues

IT was all one way traffic when the ladder-leading Blues tackled the struggling Milawa Demons at Milawa on Saturday.

In near perfect conditions at a much improved Milawa oval, the premierships favorites kicked away early, booting six goals to nil in the first quarter and piling on 21 goals to three in the last half.

Greta's Andrew Smith won the ball convincingly at the centre and, with support from Mark Kilner, Paul Hogan and Damien Hogan across the centre line, drove the ball forward to Peter Mulrooney, who booted three impressive long range goals in the first quarter.

The second quarter continued in much the same vein as the first, with Rod Woodward, Alan Millard and Mulrooney forming a deadly three-pronged goal attack for Greta.

The Demons kicked their first, a cunning snap from Shane Bell, half way through the second quarter and managed to kick another two before the main break to to trail by 61 points.

The third quarter saw the beginning of an avalanche of goals for the Blues, with Rod Woodward leading the field with an 11 goal haul for the day.

The run off the Blues' half back line, through Brett Keir, Ash Martin and Mick Patford, was superb, repeatedly driving the ball into attack.

The tussle between Alan Millard and Andrew Stevens was a feature of the game with Millard booting five goals from strong marks and Stevens proving one of Milawa's best,

Greta 33.19 (217) defeated Milawa 6.3 (39)

He received good support from Paul Simpson, Jeff Donald and Mark Brown in the pressured Demon defence.

The Blues powered on in the last quarter with Andrew McIntosh working hard and Hogan, Kilner and Waite maintaining their high work rates.

The win keeps Greta one game clear on top of the Ovens and King league ladder with only one round of the home and away season remaining.

Ladder-leading Greta poised to end Glenrowan's finals hopes

THE ladder-leading Greta are poised to finish the Ovens and King's home and away season with only one defeat, playing host to sixth-placed Glenrowan on Saturday.

Having dominated the competition for most of the season, the Blues should have no trouble maintaining their undefeated run and, in doing so, will put an end to Glenrowan's faint finals hopes.

The Tigers, currently sixth behind Chiltern on eight wins, must win and hope that the Swans lose to have any chance of snaring a finals place.

GRETA V GLENROWAN

Their shock 32 point loss to Tarrawingee last week has left their almost-certain finals hopes in tatters, the only remedy being a victory over the league's hot premiership favorite this week.

With the Blues coming off a thumping 188 point win over Milawa last week, the Tigers face a daunting challenge.

The last time the two sides met, at Glenrowan in round seven of this year, Greta powered away in slippery conditions to win by nearly ten goals, keeping the hapless Tigers to just two goals six for the day.

Alan Millard, who currently leads the league's goalkicking table, will again be a force up forward for Greta, ably supported by Peter Mulrooney, Marc Kilner, Andrew McIntosh and Barrie Sullivan.

For Glenrowan, coach Shane Lockyer, Craig Bihun and Brian Johns will all need to be at their best if they to keep the Blues within sight.

Blues crush Tigers' slim finals hopes

Greta 31.14 (200) defeated Glenrowan 4.7 (31)

HOT Ovens and King premiership favorite, Greta, crushed the life out of Glenrowan's fading finals hopes when they met at Greta on Saturday.

The ladder-leading Blues, who have suffered only one loss this season, were in scintillating form, kicking 12 goals to one in the second quarter and nine goals to one in the last to win by a staggering 159 points.

The Tigers, whose promising finals campaign was left in tatters after a devastating loss to Tarrawingee last week, managed only four goals for the match and were beaten convincingly all around the ground.

Disappointingly, they managed to finish the season in seventh place, after looking to have a firm stranglehold on fifth place with only three rounds to go.

Michelini, Grunow, Craig Bihun and Shane Lockyer all did their best for the visitors but were no match for their talented opponents, who will now have a week's break after finishing the home and away season in top spot.

Alan Millard, the league's leading goalkicker, was unstoppable up forward for the Blues, booting 11, and Andrew McIntosh gave strong support on the flank with four goals.

Mark Kilner, John Chay and Darren Waite were all in top form on the ball and are certain to create problems for their opponents in the finals series.

Greta continues to dominate in O&K

GRETA continued its domination of the A grade competition with three decisive wins in the final round of Ovens and King netball on Saturday.

The Blues overcame last placed Glenrowan 75-26 to record their 17th win for the season and finish the home and away competition with only one defeat.

They will now have a week's rest before facing the winner of next week's qualifying final between Milawa and Chiltern.

In other matches, seventh-placed Bright upset Moyhu and nearly cost them a place in the five with a narrow three goal victory, Tarrawingee recorded their sixth win for the season with a stunning two goal win over third-placed Whorouly and Milawa kept King Valley out of the finals race with a resounding 21 goal victory.

Chiltern moved a notch to third place with a 25 goal win over North Wangaratta and will now play Milawa in next week's qualifying final.

In B Grade, Milawa finished on top spot with only one loss while Greta, Chiltern, Moyhu and North Wangaratta make up the remaining four places.

Greta's thumping C grade win over Glenrowan kept their unbeaten record and overwhelming flag favoritism intact.

As in A grade, the Blues will now have a week off before facing the winner of next week's final between Chiltern and Bright.

SECOND SEMI FINALS

Saturday, September 2 at the Tarrawingee Football Ground

Blues all set for grand final berth

SENIORS: GRETA v BEECHWORTH (2.15pm)

GRETA should take their second-last step to premiership glory when they face a determined Beechworth combination in the Ovens and King's second semi-final on Saturday.

After a week's rest, and the opportunity to watch their opponents sweat it out in the qualifying final, the Blues will be pumped and ready to inch even closer to taking their eighth senior flag.

Beechworth are coming off an important win over North Wangaratta and will be comforted by the fact that they lost by only 13 points to the Blues in their round 10 encounter.

They will again look to Brett Bouker and Robbie Zane to create options up forward and will hope Jeremy Vereshaka improves on last week's performance and displays the dominance around goals that he has shown for most of the season.

Warner, Hibberson and Bate will all need to be at their best, as they were last week, if the Bombers are to have a chance of causing an upset.

Greta, who have dominated the Ovens and King home and away season, losing only one game and finishing on top, will look for a continuation of their final round form against Glenrowan, which they won by 169 points.

Rob Richards

Brendan Breen

They will rely on big Alan Millard, who kicked 11 goals against the Tigers in round 18 and has kicked 74 for the season, Peter Mulrooney and Rod Woodward all to create problems up forward for the Bomber attack.

In addition, Mark Kilner, Chay and Smith on the ball, and McIntosh on the forward flank, will all prove difficult opponents for the Bombers.

Greta coach Rob Richards has done a fine job with his side after taking on the job this year, guiding the Blues from a disappointing 1994 season, in which they finished outside the five on percentage, to firm 1995 premiership favorites.

Tomorrow's game, though it won't be easy, should be the beginning of what is shaping up to be a repeat of the Blues' 1993 premiership glory.

1995 - O&K 2nd Semi Final - Review

Blues struggle, Hoppers dominate in semi finals

GRETA fought off a defiant Beechworth combination to win their second semi final clash on Saturday and earn a place in the Ovens and King grand final.

In a close game, which saw the lead change more than six times, the Blues broke clear in the final term to record their second win over the Bombers this year.

The ladder-leaders looked poised for a comfortable victory when they stormed to a three goal lead at quarter time, kicking five goals to the Bombers two.

Although they kicked the first goal of the second quarter, it was Beechworth who dominated the first half of the term, booting five goals to Greta's two to hit the lead at the 13 minute mark.

Another two goals, one to Robbie Zane, who was proving dangerous in the Bomber forward line, and another to Brett Bouker, pushed them more than two goals in front and set them up for a remarkable upset victory.

Great play by Greta's John Chay at the 19 minute mark, however, saw Woodward goal and the Blues back in the race.

Two more goals late in the term gave Greta a narrow five point lead at the main break, setting the scene for a desperate final half.

In the third quarter, the Bombers goaled in the first two minutes to regain the lead, but then lost it as Greta kicked three in consecutive minutes to chalk up a three goal lead.

Just when it looked like the Blues would power away, the Bombers bounced back, kicking three goals in four minutes to lead once again.

The final quarter, however, was all Greta, with coach Robbie Richards leading his charges to a three goal surge in the first 10 minutes and a five goal final term.

In the end, despite late goals to Bouker and Zane, the Blues hung on by 20 points to earn a week's rest and gain a place in the grand final on September 17.

Millard and Woodward were in good form up forward for the winners, kicking four goals each, while Keir in the back line, Smith and Flanagan were among the best.

For Beechworth, Milhaljevic was in stunning form, while Warner, Hibberson and Zane all tried hard.

MOYHU pushed North Wangaratta out of the finals race with a convincing 89 point win at Milawa on Sunday.

The Hoppers took control of the game from the first bounce, jumping to an early lead at quarter time and then powering away with a six goal second term and an eight goal third quarter.

Inaccurate kicking saw the Hawks held goalless in the final term as Moyhu cruised away to a comprehensive victory.

The Hoppers were in fine form, outmarking and outplaying the hapless Hawks, with Stewart booting eight goals for the winners up forward and Lewis kicking five in a best afield performance.

For the Hawks, who will now have to watch the remainder of the finals series from the sidelines, skipper David Ryan played a great captain's game, while Mark Johns, Tim Wicks and Neil McMonigle all worked hard.

1995 - Netball - 2nd Semi Final - Review

Great day for Greta in O&K

Last weekend was a remarkably successful one for Greta, with the Blues notching up second semi final wins in all three grades of Ovens and King netball.

The Blues, finishing on top in A and C grade and second in B grade, won their A grade match by 16 goals over Milawa, their B grade match over Milawa by eight goals and their C grade encounter by 21 goals over Chiltern.

With their senior and reserves football sides also winning their second semi finals on Saturday, the Blues will have an incredible five sides competing for premierships on grand final day on September 16.

In the first semi finals of netball on Sunday, Whorouly also had a successful day, winning their A grade match by six goals over Chiltern and their C grade final by two goals over Bright. Chiltern defeated Moyhu in the B grade semi final.

Hogan wins O&K honor

Paul Hogan (right) is congratulated by O&KFL president, Vin Shelley, after winning the 1995 Baker Medal last night.

GRETA's Paul Hogan last night won Ovens and King football's highest individual honor, the Clyde Baker medal, at the league's vote count in Wangaratta.

In one of the closest counts for many years, Hogan polled 21 votes to win ahead of Greta teammate Mark Kilner, David Ryan of North Wangaratta and Glenrowan's Shane Lockyer, all on 20 votes.

Hogan, 24, began his football career with the Blues seven years ago, leaving to play with Wangaratta Rovers between 1989-92 and returning in 1993 to be part of the club's senior premiership team. He will line up this week in Greta's grand final clash against Beechworth.

In the reserves, Rutherglen-Corowa veteran, Alan Morris, won the best and fairest award with 26 votes, ahead of Darren Nolan from Tarrawingee and Tracey Cuthane of Bright.

Beechworth's Daniel Cooper won the thirds best and fairest award with 24 votes, ahead of N Rebecso of Bright on 21 and A Terrill of Rutherglen/Corowa on 20.

Tarrawingee's Craig Pedretti won the Jetset-Chronicle Player of the Year Award for the senior competition with 34 votes, ahead of Gary Bussell of King Valley on 25 and Mick Bedendo of Tarrawingee on 24.

Hogan, Morris, Cooper claim O&K's highest honors

GRITA'S Paul Hogan, Rutherglen/Carewa's Alan Morris and Beechworth's Dan Cooper claimed Ovens and King Football League's highest individual honors on Sunday night when they won their respective best and fairest vote counts.

Hogan won the senior count, polling 21 votes ahead of David Ryan (Nth Wangaratta), Mark Kilner (Greta) and Shane Luckyer (Glenrowan), who all polled 20.

In the reserves, 44 year old Cats veteran, Alan Morris, won the count with 26 votes, well ahead of Darren Nolan (Tarravine) and Tracey Culhane (Bright).

Daniel Cooper, 15, won the thirds vote count, polling 24 votes.

Craig Pedretti from Tarravine won the lowest-Chronicle Player of the Year award with 34 votes.

Grand day for Greta

GRETA will begin tomorrow's Ovens and King grand final day at Tarrawingee Football Ground with five out of six teams competing for premierships.

The Blues' senior and reserves football sides will both be vying for flag success while the club's A, B and C grade netball sides are all participating in their respective grand finals.

In the seniors, Greta will play Beechworth in a rematch of the second semi final a fortnight ago, which the Blues won by 20 points.

In the reserves, the Blues will hold an upper hand over Moyhu, who they beat comfortably by 31 points when they last met in the second semi final.

In the netball competition, Greta will meet archrivals Milawa in the A and B grade finals and Chiltern in the C grade match.

1995 O&KFL GRAND FINALS - SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER

Greta set for glory in close,

WITH only one loss so far this season, Greta will go into Saturday's Ovens and King Football League grand final against Beechworth as deserved premiership favorites.

The Blues have had a near flawless season, finishing on top with 17 wins and holding a distinct 2-0 advantage over their co-grand finalists.

They defeated the Bombers by 13 points at home midway through the season and secured victory again in their important second semi final at Tarravinee a fortnight ago.

Their quest for glory will be further enhanced by the week's rest, which has enabled them to accumulate a full list of fit players.

James Corker and Darren Waite, who did not play in the second semi final, will both be available and Mark Kilner, who has been under a minor injury cloud, is expected to be fully fit for Saturday's game.

Greta coach Robbie Richards is quietly confident his side can go all the way on Saturday and repeat the club's 1993 premiership glory.

He knows, however, after their fighting performance in the second semi final and their resounding victory over Moyhu last week, that Beechworth will not be easy to beat.

The Bombers' impressive display last week must be of particular concern to Richards.

Their rock-solid defence, experienced on-buffers and balanced forward line stood out significantly in their preliminary final clash and are all problems the Blues will have to counter if they are to succeed.

Brent Bouker, who booted a record-breaking 11 goals last week, will be a focal point up forward, while Anthony Mihaljevic, Paul Hibbertson and Brad Holt are all likely to continue their devastating finals form.

Bombers' coach, Brendan Brown, played at centre half forward last week and will again provide strength and leadership in their attacking zone. The versatile Brown has had a magnificent season, polling 19 votes at the recent Ovens and King vote count after missing six games due to injury.

He will be hoping for the perfect end to the season and the Bombers' 16 year premiership drought when his charges take to the field on Saturday.

For Greta, John Chay, Mark Kilner and Paul Hogan are all prolific ball-grinders and their influence will be on the game's end result.

Hogan and Kilner, in particular, have been vital cogs in the Blues' season dominance and will be difficult to contain.

Up forward, big Alan Millard will head a potent forward line, ably supported by Peter Mulrooney and Rod Woodward.

Millard, the league's leading goal-kicker, has had a fine season in front of goals and will be a major problem for the Bombers.

Former O&M representative player Brent Keir will again lead a tight Blues defence after a best afield performance in the last encounter with the Bombers. The experienced Keir is tipped to start at full back on Bouker.

If everything goes according to plan, Saturday's game is certain to be one of the most intense and evenly contested grand finals for some time.

Greta's

Blues to have the edge

RESERVES: GRETA v MOYHU (12 noon)

GRETA and Moyhu will meet for the fourth, and most important, time this season when they take to the field in the Ovens and King reserves grand final at Tarrawingee on Saturday.

The sides met twice in the home and away season, Greta winning by three points in round three and Moyhu by 10 points in round 13. When they last met, in the second semi final a fortnight ago, Greta won by 20 points and looked decidedly the better side.

After a week's rest and the chance to watch the Hoppers fight for their grand final spot against Beechworth, the Blues will enter Saturday's game with a distinct advantage.

They have a full, fit squad to choose from and will be buoyed by the return of a number of quality players.

Devlin is likely to again prove an important focal point at centre half forward, in addition to Rhodes and Judd, who kicked six goals between them in their last encounter.

For Moyhu, who are coming off a comfortable 31 point preliminary final win over Beechworth, Shaun Baird and Shane Douglas are again likely to create problems for their back-line opponents, as they have done for most of the finals series. Pete Keogh has been a tower of strength in the centre and will need to be at his ferocious best to quell Greta's mid-field attack.

He will be supported by veteran Russell Canning, Lewis and Gephart, who have all been in good form of late and will be instrumental in the Hoppers' centre bounce contests.

While the Blues may enter the game as favorites, Moyhu's finals form has been impressive enough this season to give them more than a glimmer of hope.

Glory for Greta in O&K

GRETA won its second senior premiership in three years when it defeated Beechworth by 24 points in the Ovens and King Football League grand final at Tarrawingee on Saturday.

In front of a record-breaking crowd, the Blues led at every change, holding off a late Bomber fightback to claim their eighth O&KFL senior premiership.

It was the perfect end to a remarkable year for the Blues, who finished on top of the ladder at the end of the home and away season and lost only one game.

The win was their third over the Bombers this season after defeating them narrowly earlier in the year and winning again in their second semi final clash at Tarrawingee a fortnight ago.

Greta coach Robbie Richards, in his debut year with the club, dedicated the premiership cup to his talented side and a hard-working club committee.

It was Richards' first premiership win.

In the reserves, Moyhu completed a fairytale end to their 1995 season with a thrilling two point win over Greta.

The Hoppens, who were comfortably beaten by Greta in their second semi final two weeks ago, led all day, holding off an inaccurate Blues attack to secure a thrilling victory.

Beechworth won their second consecutive thirds premiership flag with a resounding 28 point win over Chiltern.

The Bombers completed their undefeated season with a polished performance, led by 1995 Fred Jensen medal winner, Dan Cooper, who was again among the best afield.

O&K GRAND FINAL G

Blues march to glory over gutsy Bombers

OVENS & KING SENIORS

IF Greta coach Robbie Richards could rewrite the 1995 season, he would be unlikely to change anything.

The experienced veteran could not have hoped for more in his debut year at the helm, with the Blues dominating the senior competition and dropping only one game on their charge to premiership glory.

Saturday's 24 point win over Beechworth was Richards' first premiership victory and it could not have come at a better time.

For him and fellow Greta player, Brett Keir, the win was the perfect end to years of hard and often rewardless work on the football field.

Keir, who played a record 270 games with the Wangaratta Football Club and represented the Ovens and Murray League on many occasions, had decided to retire at the end of last year before Richards convinced him to have one more go at flag glory.

While Richards was forced to watch most of Saturday's game from the sidelines, after injuring his knee in the first term, Keir revelled in his first grand final appearance, leading a strong Greta defence with yet another best afield performance.

With Darren Waite, Mark Kilner and Damien Flanagan all in top form, the Blues looked decidedly the better team for most of the day, leading at every change and holding off a fighting Bomber resurgence in the final term.

Although Beechworth scored the first goal of the match, through Brett Bouker, it was the Blues who dominated the first term, kicking the next four goals to lead by 20 points at the first break.

Bouker, who booted a record-breaking 11 goals in the preliminary final last week, was moved to centre half forward and Bomber coach, Brendan Breen, moved onto the ball after being well held by Keir in the early stages.

The second quarter saw a tight battle of the defences with Greta managing just one goal and Beechworth kicking two to reduce the margin to just 13 points at the main break.

The third quarter was a relatively even battle, with Greta's Darren Waite kicking the first goal of the term, followed by near misses to Barry Sullivan and Peter Mulrooney.

The Bombers looked poised to make their way back into the game with a goal to Borschmann soon after but were then let down by costly misses for goal.

Greta seized every possible opportunity that followed, with Rodney Woodward marking spectacularly and goaling mid way through the term and gun forward Alan Millard booting two goals in consecutive minutes to give the Blues a healthy lead.

Two late goals to Beechworth kept them within three goals at the final change and set the scene for a tense final quarter.

The Bombers continued their resurgence in the early stages of the last term, kicking the first two goals and drawing within three points.

The Blues kept their cool, however, and with goals to Ashley McIntosh and Alan Millard, stood firm to win by four goals.

For the winners, Darren Waite was awarded the VCFL medal for the best player on the ground, while Mark Kilner, ruckman Andrew Smith and defender Rod Weidemann all worked tirelessly.

For Beechworth, who were once again defiant in defeat, Anthony Mihaljevic was again brilliant, rover Russell Warner worked hard and Terry Ashworth, Paul Gaskett, Brendan Breen and Ben Leary were all among the best.

The Bombers' post-match disappointment was worsened when coach Brendan Breen was taken to hospital after the match with a suspected broken arm.

Hoppers hang on in thriller

MOYHU held on in a gripping final term to win the 1995 Ovens and King reserves premiership against Greta on Saturday.

The Hoppers, who lost by 31 points to the Blues in their second semi final clash a fortnight ago, came out with guns blazing in the opening term, booting five goals to Greta's two to lead by 14 points at the first break.

Shane Douglas was again dominating up forward, kicking two goals and Shaun Baird continued his devastating finals form.

Greta bounced back in the second term but inaccuracy kept them to just three goals five, trailing by two goals at half time.

They reduced the margin to just six points early in the third quarter before Moyhu's Jack Doyle and Pateman both goaled to give the Hoppers a narrow advantage at the last break.

O&K RESERVES, THIRDS

The final term began ominously for the Hoppers with White kicking his second at the eight minute mark and the Blues moving to within six points.

A goal to Moyhu soon after provided the Hoppers with some relief, but they were again challenged when Greta's Holmes kicked truly mid way through the quarter. The rest of the term was all Greta as they relentlessly attacked at goal, missing several easy goal opportunities, including one directly in front in the dying minutes.

To their credit, the Hoppers held on bravely in the end to record a stunning upset victory over the flag favorites.

In the thirds, Beechworth began the day successfully and completed a flawless season with a convincing 28 point win over Chiltern.

The Bombers, who have not lost a game this season, bounced back after a second quarter surge by the Swans to record their second consecutive premiership.

Demons spoil Blues' hat-trick hopes

MILAWA spoiled Greta's hopes of a hat-trick of flags when they won their Ovens and King B grade netball grand final at Tarra-wingee on Saturday.

The Demons, led by Renae Knox on the wing and Di Baker in defence, powered away in the second quarter to lead by six goals at half time.

The Blues, through Megan O'Brien in the centre and goal-shooter Jacqui Leitch, bounced back to score 12 goals to six in the third quarter and level the scores at the final change.

In a thrilling last quarter, Milawa managed to edge ahead, shooting 10 goals to Greta's nine to win the B grade flag by one goal.

In the A grade match, the Blues leaped to an amazing 19-4 advantage at quarter time, with Sharon Tanner notching up 15 goals in as many minutes.

Under the guidance of Janine Norman, the Blues edged further ahead in the second term and looked poised to notch up a record-breaking win with a 19 goal lead at half time.

To their credit, the Demons did not give in, out-scoring the reigning premiers in the second half, shooting 11 goals to 7 in the third quarter and 14 to 13 in the last term.

In a low-scoring C grade grand final, Greta began the day successfully with a nine goal win over Chiltern.

After a relatively even first half that saw them lead by just three goals at half time, the Blues powered away in the crucial third term to shoot nine goals to three and lead by 10 at the last change.

With Kerry Cornford and Becky Gatt standing strong in defence for Chiltern, the Swans managed to outscore the Blues in the final stanza but were unable to peg back the lead. Jacinta Crimmins in attack and Natalie White were among Greta's best.

Although they failed to take out the hat-trick of netball flags for the second consecutive year, it has been another outstanding season for the Greta club, who continue to dominate Ovens and King netball.

Richards re-appointed to lead Blues in '96

GRETA's 1995 Ovens and King premiership coach has been re-appointed to lead the Blues again in 1996.

Richards coached the Blues' senior side to its eighth premiership flag last month, following in his father Len's footsteps, who coached Chiltern to the flag in 1968.

The re-appointment of Richards, a former Wangaratta player, augurs well for another successful year for the Blues in 1996.

Speaking of coaching appointments, Yarrowonga's Peter Foster has withdrawn from the club's 1996 senior coaching race after leading the Pigeons for the past two years.

Foster, who played 163 games with Footscray and won a best and fairest, cited a combination of personal and other reasons for his decision to withdraw his application.

Foster's withdrawal comes only a week after Wodonga coach Ernest Whitehead announced his retirement as senior coach.

Whitehead has taken the Bulldogs to the last four grand finals, winning the premiership in 1992.

LAST year's youngest-ever winner of the Ovens and King Football League's Baker Medal, Mark Porter, recently completed a remarkably successful debut year with VFA club Coburg.

Porter, 18, won the prestigious Fothergill/Round medal at the VFA's grand final lunch a fortnight ago, after earlier being named the VFA Rookie of the Year.

The medal, named after the only two players ever to win both the AFL Brownlow medal and the VFA Liston Trophy, Des Fothergill and Barry Round, is awarded to the player considered the most promising in the competition.

Having anchored the number one ruck job for Coburg, earned VFA representative honors and won two of the VFA's most prestigious awards, "promising" is an understatement for Porter.

The former King Valley champion, a human movements student at RMIT, won the VFA Rookie award with 35 of a possible 36 votes, receiving 11 of the 12 three votes cast by Victorian Footballer magazine's panel of coaches and experts.

Greta coach Robbie Richards, president James Corker and club best and fairest winner Marc Kilner with the 1995 Ovens and King senior premiership cup.

It was the highest percentage of votes ever polled by a player since the award was introduced three years ago.

Coburg Football Club's president, Phil Cleary, likened Porter to former Essendon great Alan Ezard, who arrived at the Coburg City Oval in 1983 and went on to play with the Bombers half-way through his first season.

He said it is very rare to find an 18-year-old ruckman as advanced as Porter.

Box Hill coach John Murphy said Porter was as good as anyone out of junior football he had seen since being back at the VFA and had all the attributes to play at a higher level.

Not surprisingly, Porter is being eyed by as many as 14 AFL clubs even though he has not yet been nominated for the December draft.

Capital Improvements Plans

GRETA SPORTING COMPLEX UP FOR IMPROVEMENTS

The Greta Sporting Complex Committee, Greta Football & Netball Club & Greta Cricket Club are proud to announce State Government funding for improvements to the Sporting Complex.

Improvements will consist of netball change rooms for both home & away sides, an improved umpire change room and importantly disabled toilet facilities. These improvements are long overdue & a welcome addition following the netball court re-surfacing earlier this year and the improvements underway to "Dawn's Shed" taking place in the coming weeks.

In addition to government funding, there will be cash contributed by the Football & Netball club, the Cricket Club & Complex Committee as well as "in kind" work from generous local businesses.
