SELECTION OF THE TEAM OF THE CENTURY

Over The past 100 years several thousand players have played football at the Seymour Football Club. Selecting the team of the Century was always going to be a difficult assignment.

The team selected will always be in question by some! Which is only natural? We don't expect this side to settle any arguments, but it could start a few.

To help with the selection, club secretary Gary Brown was asked by the Seymour Football Club reunion committee, to be chairman of the selection team. Ten long standing people connected with the club in different era's, who wish to remain anonymous, were then asked to submit their teams, four declined the offer six submitted their squads.

The criteria of selection was that players played at least forty senior games, the side had to be picked on team equality, with all players playing within strict limitations of their playing day positions.

It is unfortunate that some noteworthy players narrowly missed out on selection, but you can't fit a seventy nominated player list into a 24 player team. It is the opinion of the selectors that every player who has represented the Seymour Football Club, are valued for their contribution.
